Foreword

The purpose of an annual is to keep alive the memories of each year; so that, later in life, one can look through it and recall the happy moments of his college career. It would be impossible to depict each event of this school term, 1956-57, for two reasons: first, so many wonderful things happened that it would take a series of volumes rather than one small one to cover everything; second, for each of these events there were as many different emotions and as many different ways to remember it as there were people present at the event. These two reasons limit the actual number of events mentioned in this annual.

The book is designed, however, with an eye to portraying some of the salient points of this school year. As the reader recalls the occasions portrayed here, perhaps he will recall the emotions he experienced at that time; and more important, perhaps his train of thought will continue its journey through his memories, and he will recall the many pleasant events that we were not able to portray. If this happens the annual will be a success.

By a careful study of life on the campus, the contents of this annual is divided into eight major divisions. Photographs of campus buildings appear on each of the division pages. Whenever possible the particular building has some connection with the section which follows it. It is easy to see the appropriateness of Student Union Building for Activities, Fulton Chapel for Features, the Library for the Class Section, etc.

On entering the Ole Miss campus, the new student is converged upon by the welcoming committee eager to illustrate the congenial atmosphere that is prevalent year round.

As Southern belles arrive . . .

A curious Southern gentleman merely watches.

As the carefree joys and pleasures of summer tremble and quake their last, the weaker sex, to use an outdated cliché, turn en masse to the beautiful campus which derived its nickname from their gender - - - Ole Miss - - - to complete the air of Southern charm.

After passing through the gates, the female-laden cars proceed to the prospective places of abode to deposit their admirable burdens. There appears to be an ample supply of chivalrous young gentlemen with a "helpful" gleam in their eyes, on hand for various laborious tasks. For what with numerous new dating prospects plus the old standbys, social affairs seem to be brightening for the University playboy.

In accord with the traditional friendly spirit, Jimmy lends a hand; however, he may have just wanted an excuse to get in the girls' dormitories.

A frightened freshman girl brings along a bit of home.

The people of Oxford extend a cordial welcome to the University students with a street dance on the square.

... and we start

While the upper classmen are attempting to impress the new feminine arrivals, freshman boys are fast losing their appeal due to the efforts of the Cardinal Club which has as its main function the discipline of freshman students. Because of the strangely shaped "seats of thought", the campus clothing store receives a large demand for freshman beanies.

In these first few days the renewal of old acquaintances and the acquiring of new friends lends a tentative air of happiness with only a trace of foreboding for the classes and study to come.

The Rebel band and cheerleaders lead the students through the streets of Oxford to the square where they dance to the music of Jerry Lane and his orchestra at the Welcome Rebel Party sponsored by the Oxford Chamber of Commerce.

Orientation

After being thoroughly welcomed the new students are taken over by the orientation committee to be familiarized with the campus. Tours, placement tests, and interviews with faculty advisors are on the agenda. Also during orientation, Chancellor and Mrs. Williams graciously receive newcomers with a coke party in their home.

Following orientation the students pack their gear for their first major encounter of "professor versus student", more widely known as registration. In preparation for this campaign the Health Department inspects the internal arrangement of each student. Next in this complicated process is the filling out of numerous cards, which require details ranging from the date of your grandmother's birth, to whether or not your parents are broad-minded. Then students, time and again, figure perfect schedules only to have them changed by either deans or professors. Money is extracted from each student, and finally the battle-weary veterans are photographed for I. D. cards.

I'm sorry but this section is closed—I'm sorry but this section is closed—I'm sorry but this—followed by the classes . . .

Freshmen are herded into Fulton Chapel where they are divided into orientation groups.

The rear row in many classrooms is often plagued with whispers such as, "Hey, Scott, what's an intoxicating pepper plant . . . three letters?"

After successfully arranging a schedule with all 8:00 classes the sudden realization that he must set the alarm for seven for an entire semester impresses the student with the dreary monotony of class, after class, after class. He finds however, that even some of his more boring required courses can be made interesting by the characteristics of his professors.

The year is begun with an unquenchable thirst for knowledge only to slow down into an apathetic dread of final exams. But all is not lost if the average intellect can seep enough knowledge by osmosis or cramming to pass his courses.

It seems that the best virtue of college classes is the opportunity to cut them for such important events as the World Series and week-end trips.

But, after all, why are we here?

The Tri Delts appeal to the intellectual type.

Sorority rush, easily called a circus of emotions, is greeted with feelings of anxiety and excitement.

Evenings are spent at parties where rushees and members giggle, play "do you know" and carry on meaningless rush chatter. Then, comes the night of reckoning when recommendations and personal opinions are waded through in an effort to satisfactorily fill quotas. After the anxious rushees receive their bids they are greeted with tears and screams of joy by their new sisters.

In fraternities only the rush chairman even attempts the hopeless task of remembering the names of all the rushees. Name tags are indispensable.

Rushees are overwhelmed by the abundance of handshaking, which seems to demonstrate the "eternal bonds of brotherhood," and learn why each fraternity is the "best on the campus."

After all night balling sessions, where everyone has a "golden boy", members greet their new pledges with a sigh of relief; for, once again, rush has ended.

begins . . .

The browsing room has become the smoker's last paradise in the library.

With the pandemonium of rush week over, minds are now forced to turn to studies, which assume various modes and fashions. Although much studying is done in dormitories and fraternity and sorority houses, meetings are often arranged on common ground—the library—for study dates, which are a means of getting little or nothing done.

First semester for pledges is one of hard study in order to make that much sought after 3.0 average, but from then on the amount of study is usually gauged only by what is required to get by. Finally, the student in his senior year realizes that he should not have been working for grades alone but rather to gain knowledge to confront situations which he will encounter in life where the game is "played for keeps".

The long, hot summer days before school begins are spent in unending practice by the Ole Miss football players in preparation for the coming gridiron season. Throughout the fall months this steady pace is continued until the value of these days of practice is realized each Saturday when the Rebels meet their S.E.C. opponents and other Southern rivals.

The days preceding the Vanderbilt game were filled with excitement and anticipation over the outcome of the recent campus-wide election. At half-time Mary Margaret Stewart was crowned Homecoming Queen with Vonda Freeman as her maid.

Pep rallies, the bonfire, and the pajama parade followed by fraternity parties succeeded in setting everyone in high spirits for the week-end. The Greeks labored most of the night and into the morning preparing their entries in the decoration contest which was won by Phi Mu sorority and Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Returning alumni watched a successful Rebel team defeat the Commodores by a score of 16-0, and after the game they met their old friends at fraternity and sorority open houses.

Students celebrated their victory and ended another Homecoming weekend by dancing that night to the music of Philip Reynolds.

the grill is always filled . . .

The grill is an institution dedicated to the betterment of the social life of Ole Miss students. It would be impossible to find words to describe grill-time; for it is a unique experience all its own.

History may have been made in the Lyceum and other parts of the campus, but everything still centers around the grill. Food and drink are only minor excuses for being there; for actually friends are acquired, dates planned and campus wide activities formulated.

Although the coffee is not the best in the world and conditions often become congested and noisy, for example at 10:00 on Wednesday morning, there is hardly a student on the campus who does not go into the grill at least once a day.

Again this year sororities entered five members in the annual Parade of Favorites. Contestants approached the big night with mixed emotions, and the days preceding the event were occupied with thoughts of what to wear and how to act. So much advice was contributed by various well wishers that on the night of rehearsal the participants were more confused than ever. All turned out well during the actual performance, however, because of the natural showmanship born in every one.

the South rises again . . .

One of the most popular traditions at Ole Miss is the week in which the student body secedes from the Union and participates in a celebration to commemorate days of the Old South.

The activities throughout the week included a street dance, enlistments, jitterbug contest, mule race, memorial service, and victory dance.

Miss Ole Miss, Carol Cavin, and Colonel Rebel, Eddie Crawford, reigned over the festivities.

The Phi Kappa Psi's will agree that Christmas is the time for children of all ages to play games while waiting for Santa.

Humm! He doesn't look like the Santa Claus I know!

After looking forward to the Christmas holidays since September it was hard to realize that they were actually at hand in spite of the sunshine and warm weather.

The spirit of giving has always reigned over the Ole Miss campus at Christmas with fraternity and sorority parties for the underprivileged and the needy. This year, in addition, the students had the privilege of acting as a unit in an attempt to raise some $10,000 to finance two Hungarian students through four years of college.

Date suppers, Christmas parties and caroling tended to complete the joy and merriment of the Yuletide season. As students left for their homes in anticipation of being with their families and partying, the campus was left in its quiet dignity, reminiscent of the year behind and bracing itself for the one to come.

Fred MacMurray

Five anxious beauties try to eat a salad during their impatient wait for the arrival of the MacMurrays.

One day in February two cars containing ten students left the campus. Their destination was the Memphis Airport and their purpose was to have the five Ole Miss beauties ranked by Fred MacMurray, who with his wife, June Haver, was in Memphis for the premiere of his Universal-International picture, "Gun for a Coward."

After anxiously waiting, trying to digest lunch, and standing in the rain, the group met the MacMurrays and accompanied them to the Gayoso Hotel. There the beauties were entertained and secretly ranked by Mr. MacMurray. That trip was an unexpected pleasure for our beauties and a first for the OLE Miss.

June Haver and Fred MacMurray got off the plane in Memphis to find themselves among fans, cameras, and a slight thunderstorm.

The Pikes opened the Greek formal season with a new Dream Girl; formal attire, and low-down music.

Calm or frantic Pikes and dates jammed the house for one big good time.

The campus social life of an Ole Miss Student essentially revolves around formals, date suppers, and parties of all types.

With the first few months of school come rush parties, fraternity parties before football games, open houses, and ASB dances. Throughout the entire year, weekend parties are held at fraternity houses, the Community House, and the Mid-Valley Gas Lodge.

Christmas brings parties for little children as well as big children, and an intense round of date suppers. With spring and Sardis weather, Greek formals are ushered in and finally end another social season with a swirl of good times.

Administration

The people of the State of Mississippi have good reason to be proud of their University. Recognized by authorities as one of the leading institutions of higher learning, it has produced the second largest number of Rhodes scholars of any college or university in the South. The ratio of the number of students to instructors with a doctorate is more favorable than any other southern university. The faculty is large enough to accommodate the enrollment so as to have small classes, thus giving the student more individual instruction. Much of the reputation of the University is based upon the excellent faculty, staff, and administration. In this section recognition is given to a few of the many people of the faculty, staff, and administration that make the University great.

J. P. Coleman

GOVERNOR OF MISSISSIPPI

Honorable J. P. Coleman, Governor of the State of Mississippi, is an alumnus of this university. The story of his arriving here with a load of potatoes to pay for his tuition is one of the traditions of Ole Miss. Since that time his achievements have been many. At present we feel that the epitome of his career is his holding the highest position of trust that the people of the State of Mississippi can bestow upon anyone—the position of Governor. We also know that when this job is over he will go on to serve the people of his state and his nation in greater ways. We are proud to have Honorable J. P. Coleman as an alumnus of our university and governor of the state.

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

Several years ago a friend of mine referred to a mutual acquaintance as a man of sentiment. His remarks that preceded and followed the statement made it quite clear that in his estimation he had paid our acquaintance a high compliment. At the time the description seemed to me to be a doubtful virtue, but as I have thought about it more it takes on new significance.

This OLE MISS will reveal to those of us who have worked, and lived together on this campus this year that we are individuals of sentiment. As the years pass, our paths separate, and each goes his own separate and distinct way; a review of this record will make us conscious of the ties of friendship, respect, and sentiment that we share in common as long as we live. May I assure each of you of the continuing interest of the University in all that you are, in all that you become, and in all that you do. Our hope is strong that you will always maintain a close relationship with your Alma Mater. She is always ready to serve you.

College of Liberal Arts

DR. VICTOR A. COULTER
Dean of the College of Liberal Arts

Since it was founded in 1848 the College of Liberal Arts has widened its scope to meet the changing needs of the students. Today one can take courses in everything from archeology to modern painting and include physical chemistry as a broadening element. Under the Liberal Arts Development Program scholars from all parts of the world are brought to the University to add to the student's privileges. During the fall semester Dr. J. S. Wilson, Professor of English at the University of Virginia and the foremost expert on Edgar Allen Poe, taught at the University. New equipment in the department of physics, chemistry, and biology has enabled the students in those fields to keep up with the rapid progress made in those fields.

Students hard at work in the comparative anatomy lab take advantage of facilities in the biology building.

The Julliard String Quartet is pictured here during one of its classes in the school of Music. During this particular session they were playing quartets by Bela Bartok and explaining the counterpoint.

Dr. Willis, chairman of the Department of Classics, and Lee Davis Thames are shown photographing some manuscripts that the University bought. They date from the Second Century AD and are among the earliest Christian manuscripts in existence. The translation will be done by faculty members.

Mississippi allows no women jurors but Law School's Moot Court does better by drafting Dean, Ginger, and Panny.

School of Law

Today, the plan of study in this school is so arranged as to afford the student a fairly free choice of subjects during his second and third years. First year courses, however, are required. The result is a modified elective system filling six full semesters that insures a thorough training in the basic courses and at the same time is sufficiently flexible to encourage individual interest and initiative.

The law school with the Mississippi State Bar publishes four times a year the Mississippi Law Journal. The Nation's two leading legal fraternities have chapters here, Delta Phi and Phi Alpha Delta.

This year marks the centennial anniversary of the School of Law as such, and in this, its 100th year, construction of a new Law Building is in process.

Dean of the School of Law

Rudy Kittlitz, Bill Cole, and Oscar Wall work on the double-effect evaporator in the Chemical Engineering Building. This set-up is used to make concentrated solutions from diluted ones. It could be said that they are concentrating on the concentrating apparatus.

Although courses in engineering have been offered by the University since the time of the reopening of the school, immediately following the close of the War Between the States, the School of Engineering was not organized as such until 1900.

The School of Engineering offers an integrated program of four, five, and six year curricula, parts of which are connected with the department of chemistry, the School of Commerce and Business Administration, and with the department of geology.

In the new Engineering building there are facilities for an extremely diversified training in Engineering. The school is continually adding new machinery and technical equipment to its facilities. An example of this new equipment is a machine which provides for the making of maps from aerial photographs and which is used extensively in the fields of Civil Engineering and in Geology.

DR. FORREST MURPHEY
Dean of the School of Education

The school of Education was founded in 1903. In 1908 the Chancellor of the University was asked to take over the task of developing the high school system of the State. From that time down to the present, the School of Education has developed with the Public School System of Mississippi and has expanded so as best to serve and improve this system.

In accordance with the desire of the School of Education to keep up to date in all matters pertaining to education, the same department now boasts a well equipped Audio-Visual Education Laboratory. This division provides services to Public Schools and various organizations as well as to departments of the University.

In 1947 the Bureau of Education Research was established. Its chief purpose is the analysis of educational problems of special interest to this state.

Ann Koehler helps Diane Schroeder as they demonstrate the best way to teach children to count. The use of visual aids is very important in modern education, and these students learn how to utilize them to their best advantage.

Dora Portera acts as a teacher in a class in the Education School. In this particular class the students are learning the best way to teach first grade students how to read.

Mrs. Gordon Wakefield, a student at the University, takes advantage of the opportunities offered to Education School students as she gets experience by practice teaching at the Oxford Grammar School.

School of Medicine

DR. DAVID S. PANCRATZ
Dean of the School of Medicine

When the School of Medicine was first founded in 1903 by a special act of the Board of Trustees, it embraced only the first two years of the regular four year course. Because of opposition of physicians throughout the state to a medical school located away from a large city, this school met with much difficulty during its early years.

Today with the vast facilities of the new Medical School in Jackson, this school is a dream come true. Subsequently the course of study has been lengthened to include the complete course of four years and the enrollment has increased as students take advantage of this school.

The University of Mississippi Medical Center accepts responsibility for training, research, service, and leadership in the preservation of life and promotion of health for this and future generations.

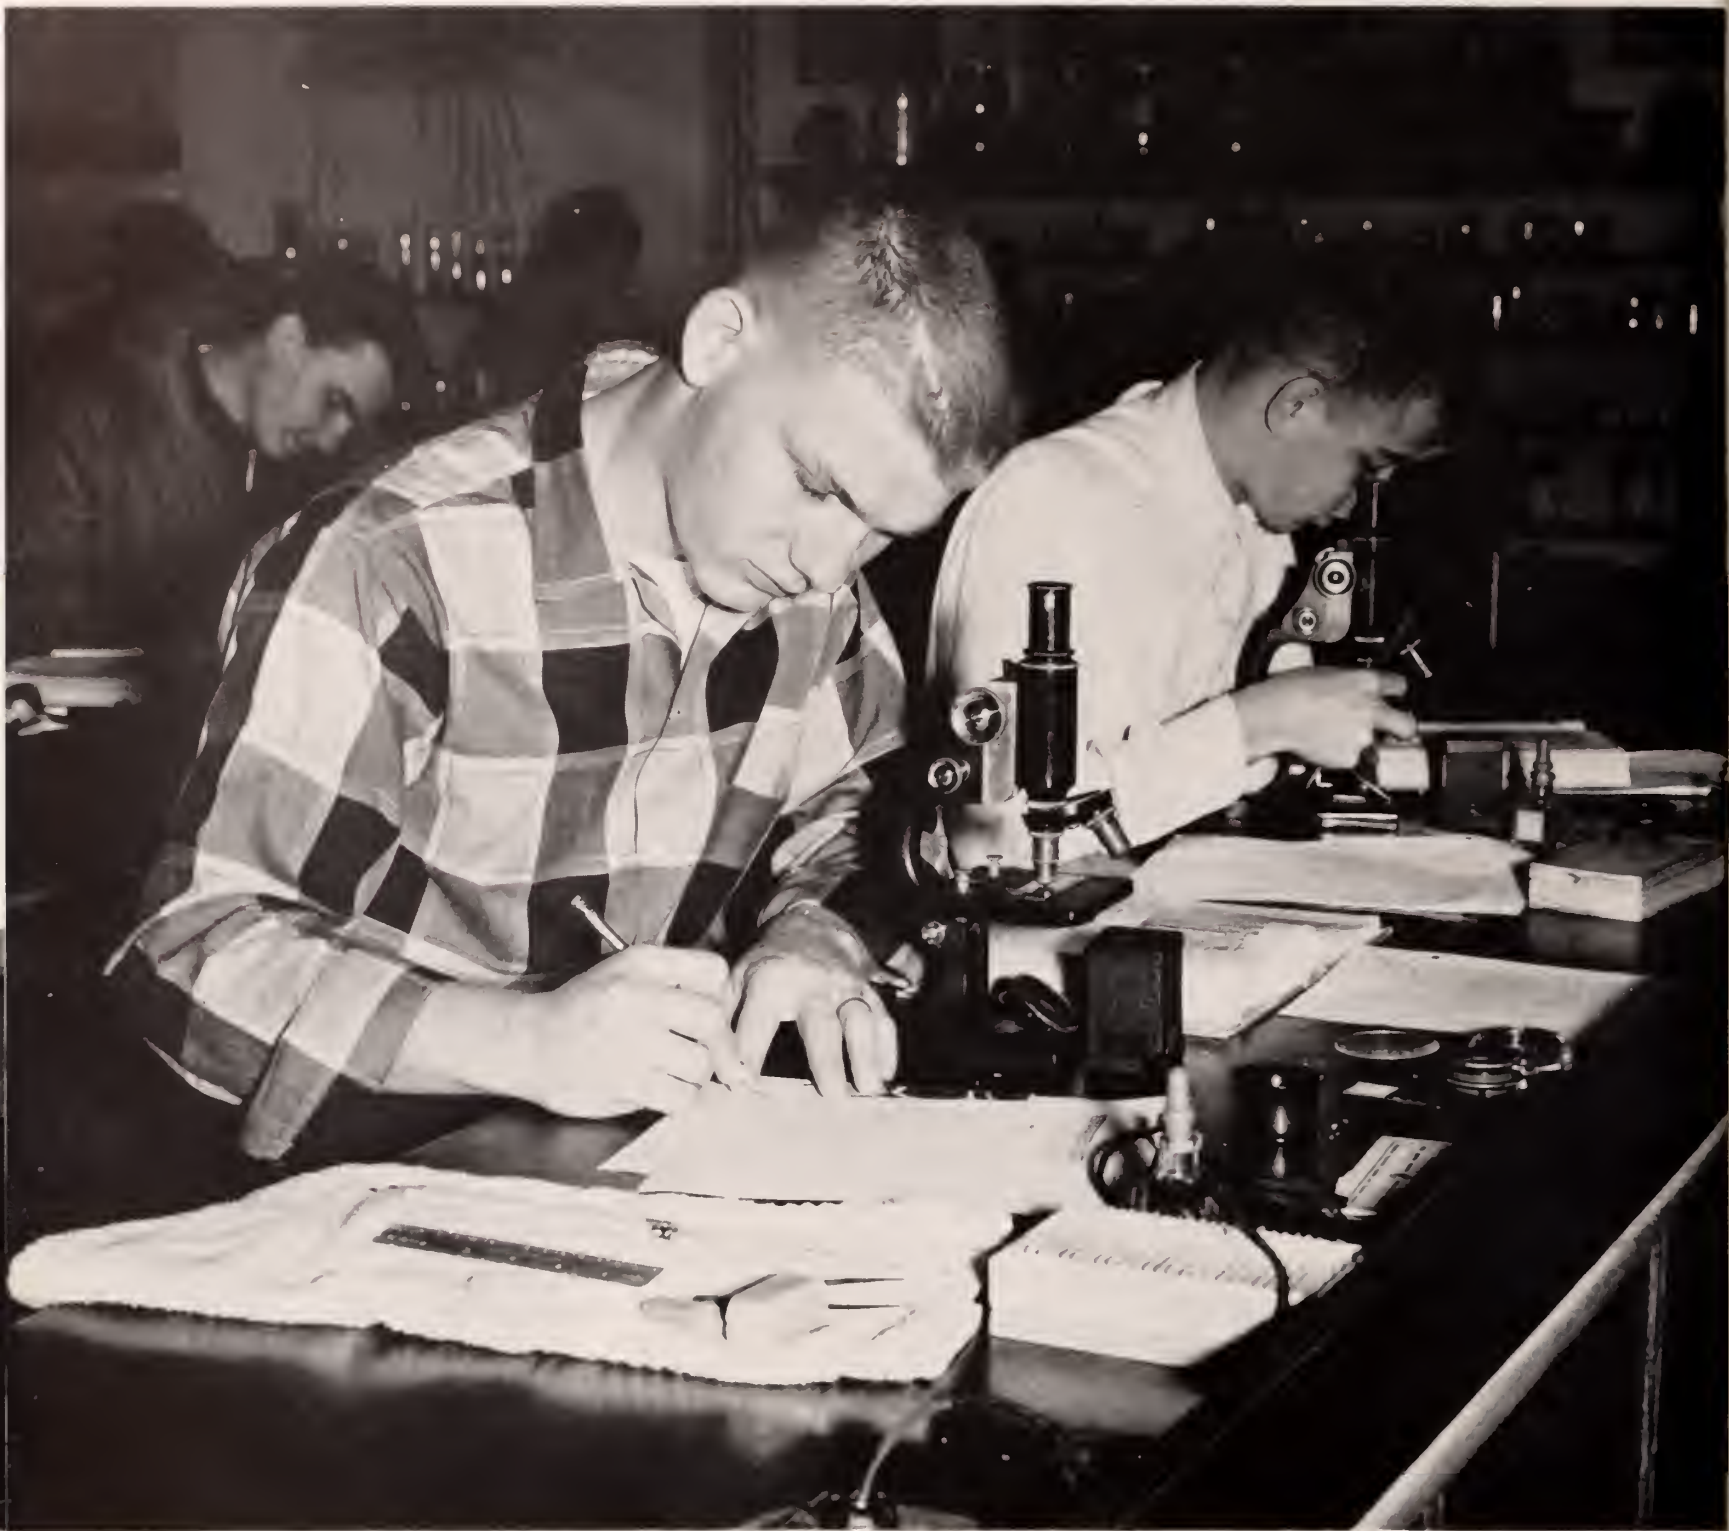

The Rowland Medical Library's reading room, individual carrels, and multi-story stacks serve all the members of the expanding health team, the teaching staff, the research workers, the students, and the employees of the Medical Center.

Early development of the highly personal doctor-patient relationship is fostered by bedside teaching which demonstrates concretely the mature physician's way of thinking about and dealing with people.

Jack Dease is drawing a picture of the plant cell which he is looking at through the microscope. This is one phase of the instruction in pharmaceutical botany.

DR. ELMER L. HAMMOND
Dean of the School of Pharmacy

When in 1908, the School of Pharmacy was established at the University, there was a total of 15 applications, a gratifying number considering the school has been opened only two months previously.

In 1923 with the dedication of the Chemistry and Pharmacy building, the Pharmacy school began to experience its largest period of expansion. With the acquisition of this new building the department was able to increase the number of laboratories and install improved equipment.

Many instruments have been introduced to make students aware of methods used in pharmaceutical research and manufacturing. One of the newest items of such interest is the Craig Distributor which is used in the purification and isolation of active principles of drugs either from synthetic or from natural origin.

Students in an advanced pharmacy lab get some practical experience in filling prescriptions. This particular period they are mixing salves and various types of creams.

As Gene Davis measures some evil smelling brew in a beaker, Charlotte Bush weighs a powder to go with it, as they work together in a pharmacy lab.

School of Commerce and Business Administration

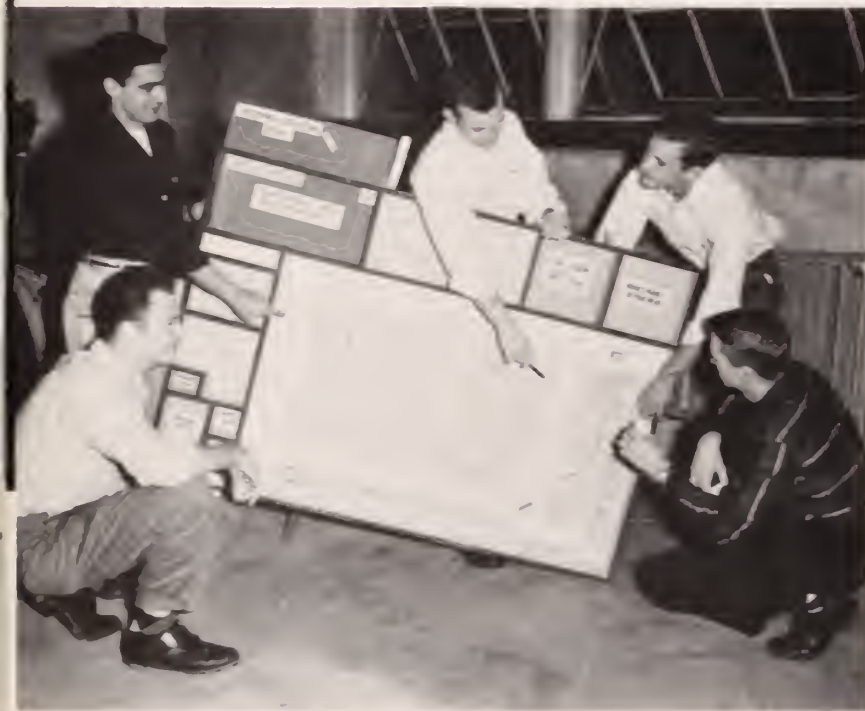

DR. CLIVE DUNHAM
Dean of the School of Commerce and Business Administration

The origin of the School of Commerce and Business Administration may be traced to courses in bookkeeping taught at the University beginning with the session of 1871-72. At that time this division did not play a significant role in the University curriculum. In 1917, as the business world had become more involved, the necessity of business education became more evident. The department broadened its field of study to become the School of Business.

This school has, since its founding, experienced the largest growth of any of the University's departments. Its enrollment is second only to that of the College of Liberal Arts.

A system of teaching by class discussion has been initiated and, in order that the student may obtain a well-rounded education, the school now offers annual field trips to major Southern industrial sites.

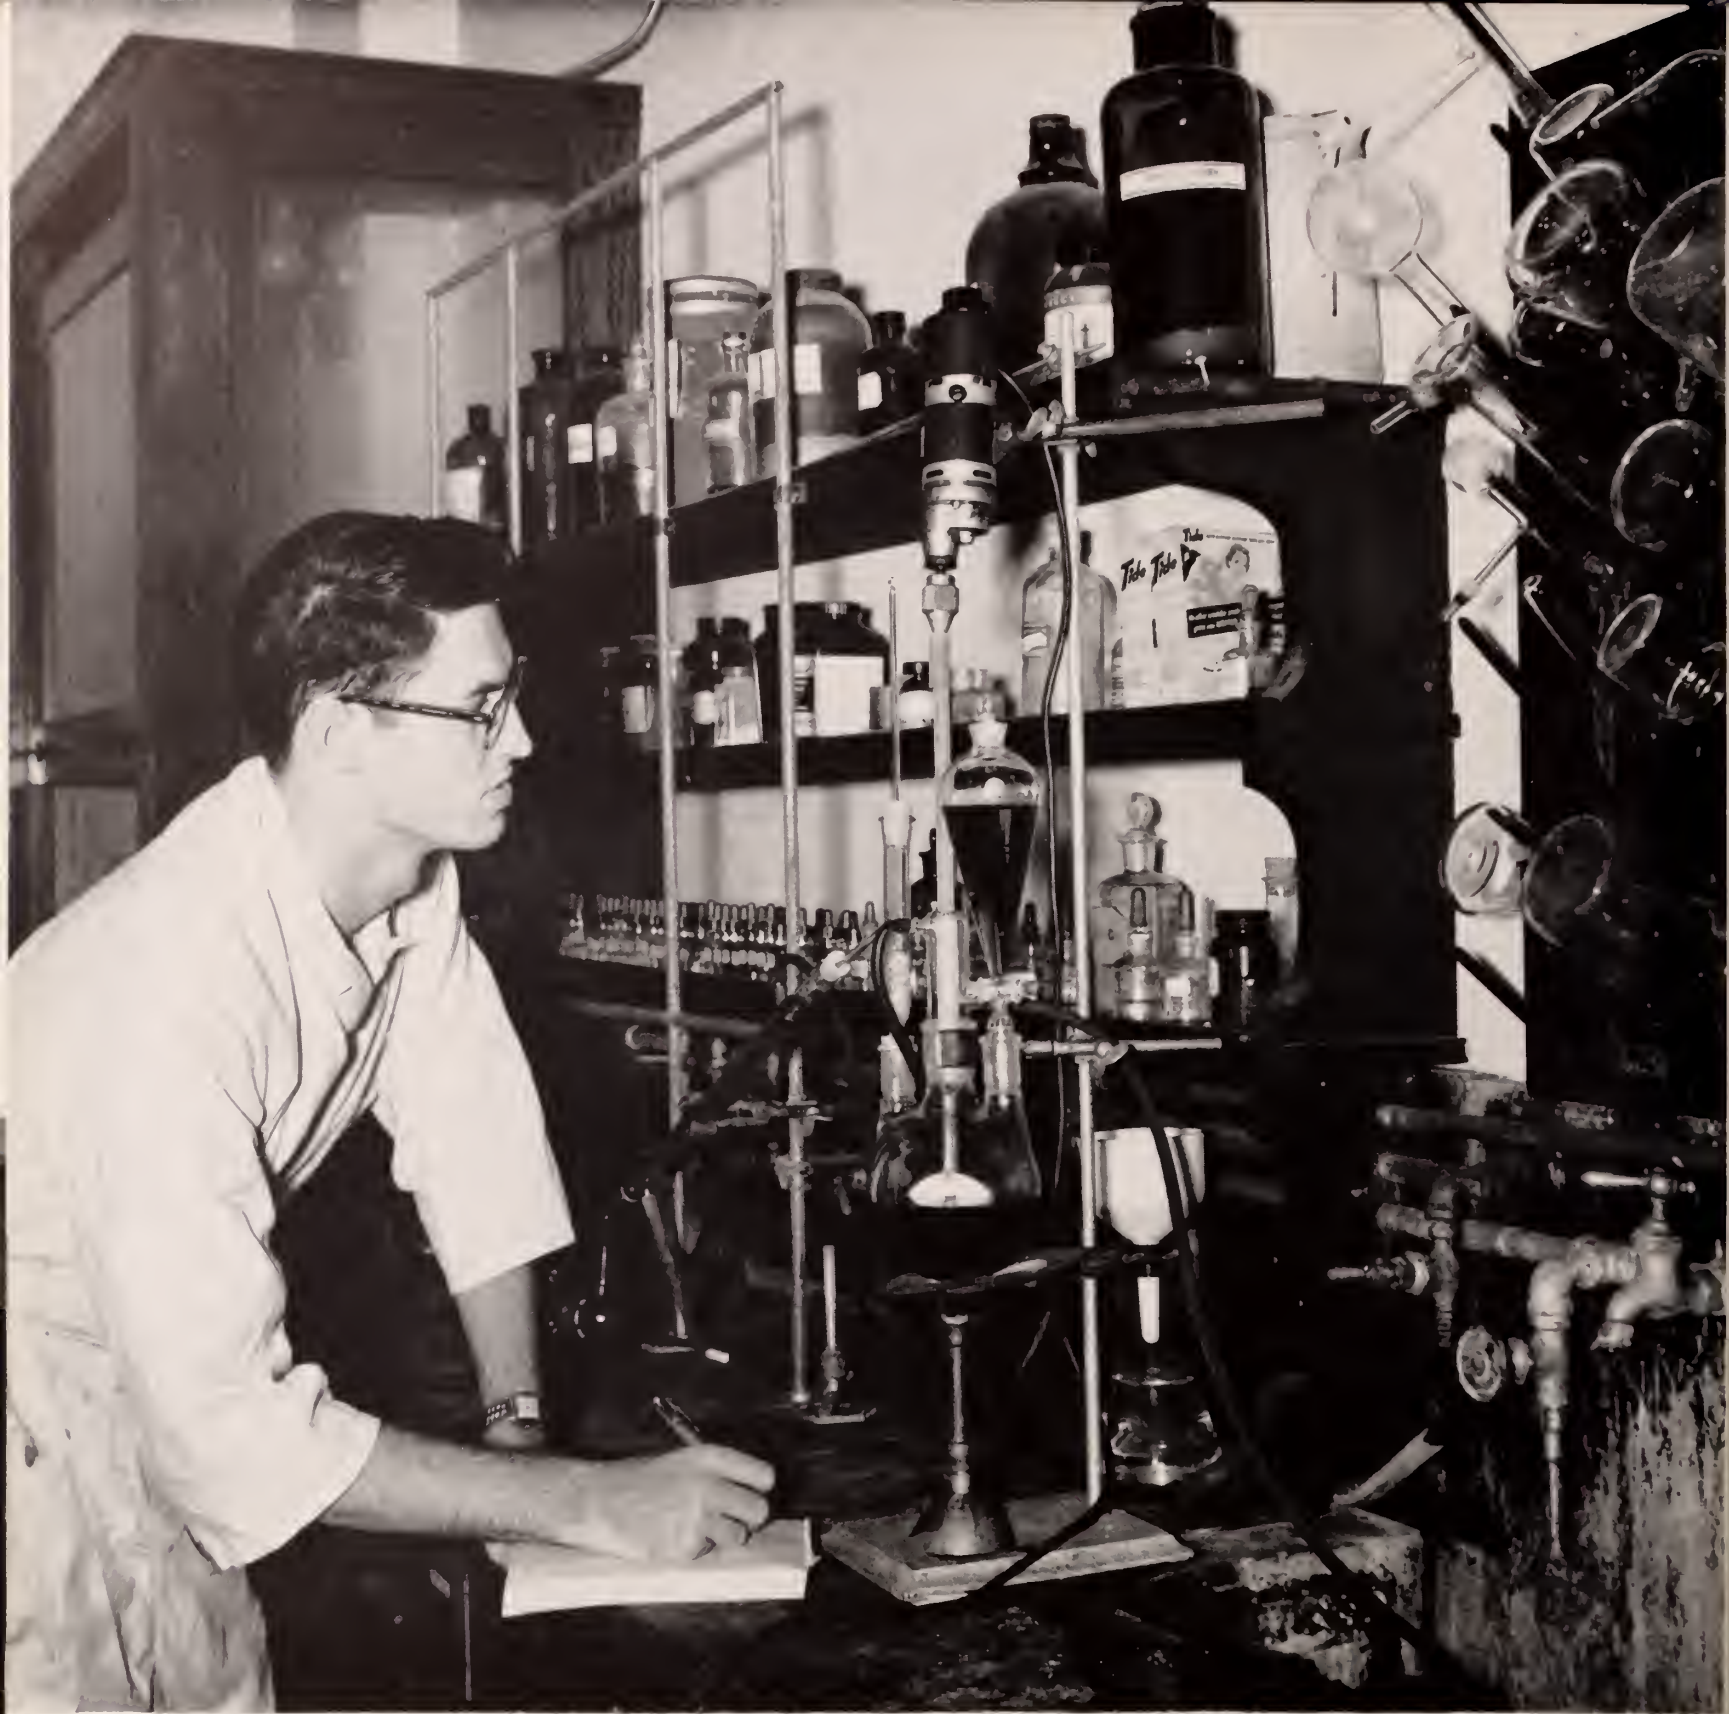

Several Commerce students work together as they try to find a place for each machine in the factory. The object is to find the safest and most efficient place for each piece of equipment.

Ida Lou Nelson learns to work one of the computing machines. This course is very necessary in this age of mechanization—a time when machines even find their way into bookkeeping departments.

Richard Monsour and George Shackelford are being timed by fellow students as they take apart a compressor. Their movements are filmed so as to catch wasted movement.

Joe Rose, graduate student in chemistry, checks a reading on the thermometer. He is experimenting with benzene and its reaction to other compounds.

The Graduate School

Although the Graduate School was not established until 1927, Honorary M.A. Degrees were conferred on distinguished graduates from 1848 until 1870. Courses on the graduate level were first offered at the University of Mississippi in 1870.

The student doing work on the graduate level in 1870 was hindered by a field of study rather limited in scope. The student of today, however, has an almost unlimited field of studies from which to choose. The courses of study are expanding each year. As new volumes are added to the library enabling more research, the graduate program is widened; and there are students taking advantage of the opportunities. Just this year the University was authorized to develop doctoral programs in some ten fields.

The Administration

The administration of the University is divided into three main divisions, with the heads of each division being responsible directly to Chancellor Williams.

Dr. W. Alton Bryant, Provost of the University, works with faculty members and department chairmen in coordinating the operations of the academic division.

Dr. L. L. Love, Dean of Students, heads the Division of Student Personnel, working with the directors of the departments therein, and serves as chief counselor and disciplinary authority for all students.

In the financial division, Mr. Joseph Sisk, Bursar, receives and expends all money. Mr. Carroll North, Comptroller, is in charge of accounting and budgeting of funds and directs the maintenance of buildings and facilities.

MEMBERS

First Row: Hugh Clegg, Assistant to the Chancellor; Robert E. Ibb, Registrar; James W. Webb, Director of Personnel; Tom Hines, Director of Student Activities.

Second Row: John S. Hartin, Director of the Libraries; Estella G. Hefley, Dean of Women; William S. Griffin, Alumni Secretary; Marvin Black, Director of Public Relations.

Student Activities

Student activities play a major role in the development of a college student into a mature, well-rounded person. Campus government, publications, and other extra-curricular aspects provide an outlet for a student to express himself and to lead a well-rounded life. Through these activities he learns the value of good government, the value of being informed through journalism, the value of other phases of life outside the college curriculum. The student government on the campus has been rated among the top in the nation by the convention of student body presidents held in Chicago last August. The high standards of the student activities speak well for the students for one can only be as good as the other.

BOB TRAVIS
President of the Associated Student Body

The Associated Student Body Government is headed by President Bob Travis. It is his duty to see that all laws of the Constitution are carried out and to promote the general welfare of the students.

The vice-president is Bob Childress, who serves as the President of the Senate. Nea Dunklin, the Secretary, records the minutes of the Campus Senate meetings, and George Cossar, as Treasurer, keeps account of all funds disbursed through student activities.

The president appoints his cabinet, who help him in his executive duties. The Judicial Council has one elected member to serve as Chairman. The others are appointed by the President of the ASB.

The Student Judicial Council is the University's Supreme Court, consisting of five students. This Council has the jurisdiction to hear and decide all matters relative to the interpretations of the ASB Constitution and to determine the constitutionality of any laws that are passed by the Campus Senate. The Judicial Council also serves in a disciplinary capacity.

BOB CHILDRESS
President of the Senate

The Campus Senate is the legislative body for the University students. This body controls all matters which are delegated to the student body by the Administration, and sets the policies for all student body activities in order that they may be conducted for the best interest of the student body as a whole.

The Senate is composed of one member from each section of every dormitory, each fraternity and sorority house, each district in Veteran's Village, two members for the Oxford students, and the president of each of the seven schools at the University. The Chancellor, the Provost, the Dean of the Division of Student Personnel, the Comptroller, the Dean of each school or their representatives, and a representative of the Oxford Chamber of Commerce also serve as members of the Senate.

The President of the Senate is Bob Childress and the Secretary is Nan Dunklin, both of whom are elected by the student body. The President Pro Tempore is Bill Mallory, and the Sergeant-at-Arms is Ray Gipson.

These two officers are elected by the Senators. The President appointed the Parliamentarian, Don Samuels, and the Chaplain, Peggy Neely.

Composed of every woman student on the campus, the Women's Student Government Association is headed by an executive council of four officers and a judicial committee of four students who are elected by popular vote each year. The Women's Student Government Association works in whole-hearted cooperation with the Dean of Women and all administrative officials to enforce the observance of all University policies and regulations.

A House Council is elected in each dormitory. These councils, composed of a president, a secretary, and representatives from each of the floors in the dormitory, with the help of the Judicial Council, are responsible for the enforcement of dormitory and social regulations. These rules and regulations are subject to be changed, with the approval of the Dean of Women, by a Legislative Council made up of dormitory presidents and secretaries.

The Women's Student Government Association at Ole Miss is a member of the Mississippi Association of Student Governments for Women and also of the Southern Association of Women's Student Governments.

A year's hard work by the OLE Miss staff left them a little distorted and different.

I hesitate to quote a "yankee" in the OLE Miss, but to paraphrase General Sherman, "Editing an annual is hell!" After pleading, running articles in The Mississippian, using loudspeakers, and making posters we finally got some 2,200 students to have their annual pictures made. The next step was to reduce some 4,400 prints to 2,200, and then find out who each picture belonged to. This job was supervised by Jimmy Ann Camp; Charles Birke, Banks Shepherd, and anyone else who might happen into the office helped with this momentous task.

All this time Lee Davis was running around snapping pictures. While he was wandering all over the campus with cameras, flashbulbs, tripods, etc., Bob Sansom, Mary Brown, and Phylis Haynes were busy writing copy. Ralph Adams spent the year doing a little bit of everything—proofreading, copywriting, etc. Nowlin Keener wrote the sports and cussed, while Jan Holmes flinched (?) as she was writing the Greek Section. Bo guarded the money as if it were the crown jewels while Charles Burns, Neal Gregory, and Martha Kay worked over the Organization and Ads Sections.

Then there was the lovely Christmas spent on the campus. Bob and Lee Davis stayed up four days after everyone else had gone home to work on this monster. There were pleasant times too, though—taking the beauties to Tupelo to be photographed, taking them to Memphis to meet Fred MacMurray and June Haver, going in the girls' dorms for snapshots, annual beat-out sessions, listening to hi-fi, playing setback, and best of all—looking out the window and watching the campus pass by.

Now that it's all over, one feels like one does toward a hitch in the Army—we're glad we had the experience and we had some wonderful times, but we wouldn't give two happy damns to do it again!

OLE Miss slave drivers Humphrey and Thames try to appear calm and patient.

After a while, even the sanest workers became oblivious to the customs and traditions of normal behavior.

Checking the last issue are the two chiefs—Charles Scott, left, Business Manager, and Panny Flautt, right, Editor.

Beating out columns on ribbon-less typewriters—Wednesday and Thursday night brain-racking sessions with headlines—and proof-reading nine and a half galley's of names, addresses, and degrees—this comprised the forty-sixth year of publishing The Mississippian.

Chief on the editorial side of the Rebel's Weekly Newspaper, Panny Flautt, wrote for the Hungarians and was ably assisted by Managing Editor Bill Schellhammer, the only journalist who was required to have his name in six point type. Lending a hand in all matters, particularly in handling news coverage of the election year politics, was Associate Editor Larry Franck, shyster-to-be.

Jean Nail kept tabs on the pinned, engaged, and unpinned, and Earl Solomon compiled sports' statistics. Assisting in the sports department were Travis Stallworth, assistant sports editor, who doubled as author of "Collegiate Nation," Dave Bickerstaff, and Wallace Dabbs.

First semester slave driver of the reporter brigade, George McNeill, pounded out his hot "Commentary" each week and was succeeded as news editor second semester by Rudy Abramson. Charlie King took over as ASB reporter.

Melinda Gwin, feature writer, learned how to be chewed out by the profs and like it, and Neal Gregory promptly attended every Senate meeting and strained-out the essentials for his column. Howell Boyd, the perfectionist, reviewed the cinema.

The host of photographers snapping pics included John Snowden, Dave Cox, Rudy Abramson and Banks Shepherd and Lee Davis Thames (for emergency cases).

Charles Scott cracked the whip as number one on the business staff first semester with Jimmy Johnson, assistant business manager, taking over the second half.

Joann Falls, advertising manager, wore out five pairs of shoes selling ads each week, and Joan Whitten managed to ruin three and one half. George Jackson cut stencils and sent out papers first semester, and Sonny Corley took over the circulation department during the second.

The forty-sixth year of publication included sensations from three-party politics in an election year to drives for Hungarian student scholarships. A few names were misspelled, but the press never fell apart.

Ralph Marteri performs in Fulton Chapel.

The Associated Student Body Dance Committee is responsible for bringing name bands to the Ole Miss campus, planning and preparing for dances, and providing representatives to all campus-wide dances who help out where they can.

Entertainment, of course, is uppermost on every Ole Miss student's mind, and the dance committee is an active organization, led by Bill Russell, chairman, and Joe Cerny, co-chairman, that provides only the best for the students.

During the first of the school year Ray McKinley, directing the Glenn Miller Orchestra, played to a full house and was received with much enthusiasm. Ralph Marteri and his nationally known band also gave an excellent performance in Fulton Chapel that was widely acclaimed.

The Dance Committee also sponsored dances after the State and North Texas State game. Phillip Reynolds band played after the North Texas State game and the Red Tops provided music and plenty of fun after the State-Ole Miss game. The Red Tops were engaged to play for the dance which highlighted Rebelle week. The Four Freshmen are under contract at present but a definite date for their concert has not been established as yet.

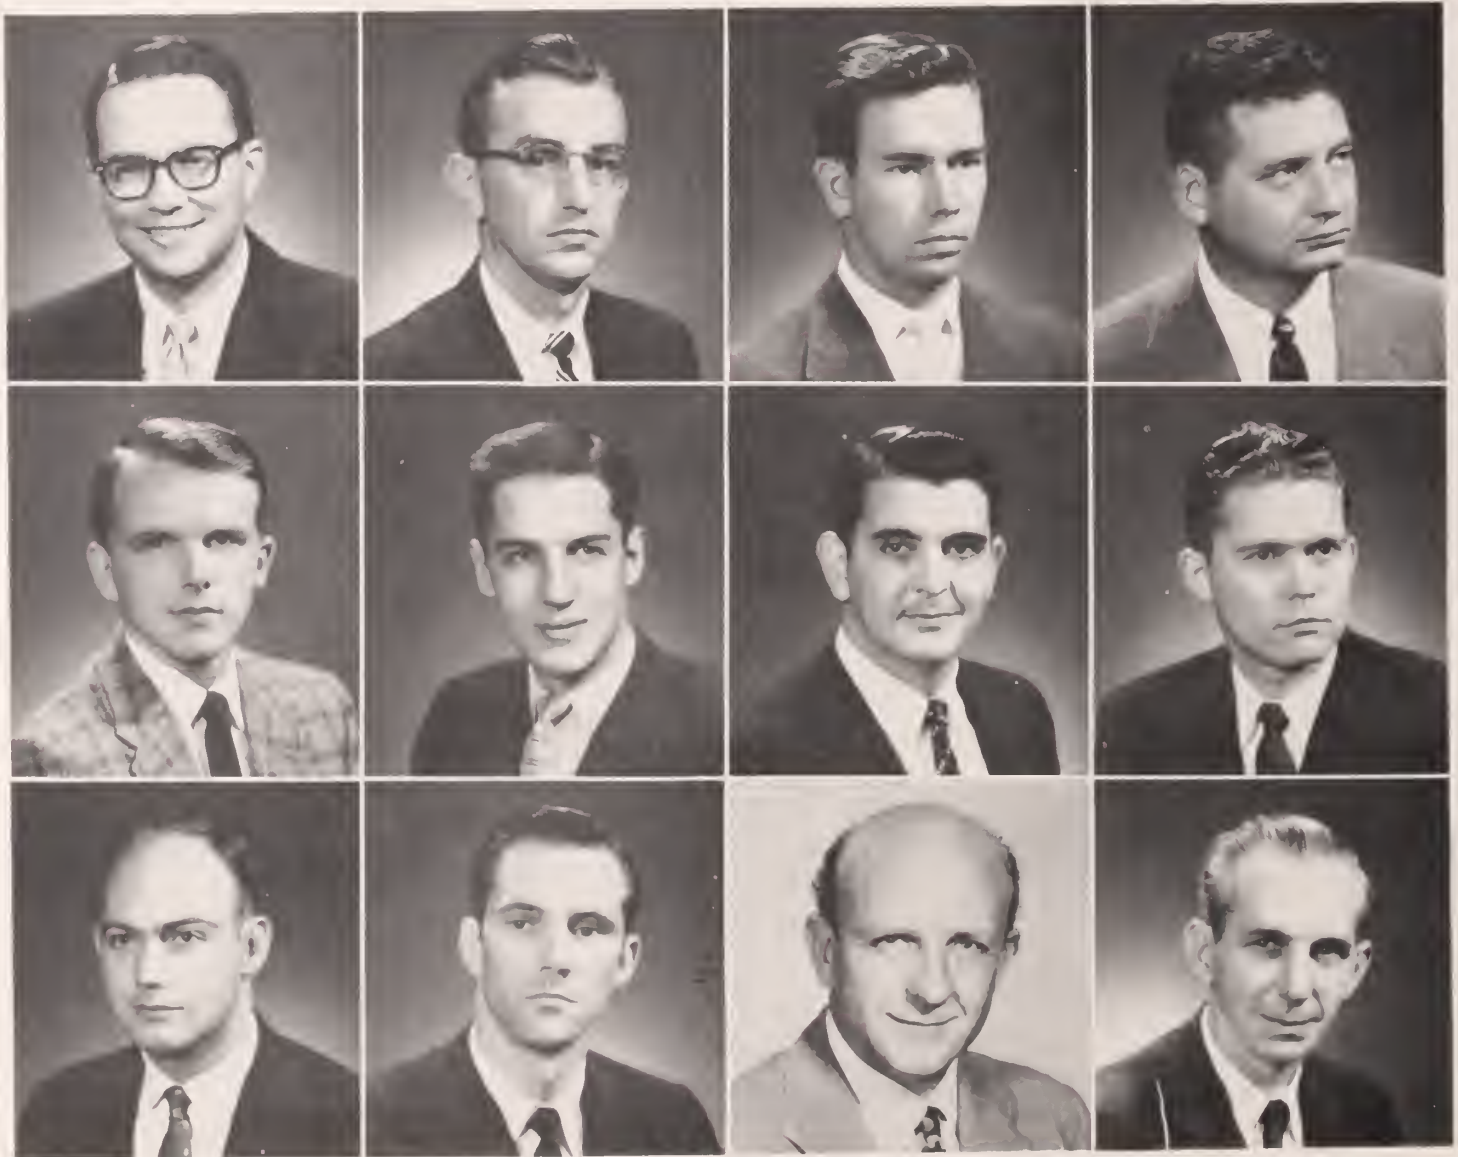

Dance and floor committee members are chosen by the chairman, who is appointed by the ASB president, and are subject to final approval by the ASB president. This year's dance committee certainly deserves a well-done for outstanding efforts.

Moot Court Board

The Moot Court Board is composed of students in the School of Law. These students are chosen by the faculty for their high scholastic record. By providing experience in the way in which they must conduct themselves in the actual court room procedure and in the handling of the general office work, the board gives the law students excellent practice which is very important. Through the arrangement of the Board, participants are able to try "mock" cases.

In addition to conducting trials, the students prepare briefs and argue appellate cases. Usually the judge in the trial is either an advanced student, a faculty member, or a practicing lawyer or judge. In the appellate cases, Professor Joel W. Bunkley serves as the faculty advisor, while Bramlett Roberts is the advisor to the general practice division.

Mississippi Law Journal

The Mississippi Law Journal, which was established in 1928, is the official publication of the Mississippi State Bar. Under the auspices of the Bar, it is published four times a year by the students in the School of Law of the University of Mississippi.

Although the editorial staff is composed of students who write some of the articles for the Law Journal, most of the material is written by jurymen from all parts of the country.

The Mississippi Law Journal reviews outstanding litigations as well as current treatises on the general subject of law. Besides the articles by eminent writers on legal subjects, notes and comments written by students on recent decisions, and other matters of interest to the legal profession, the Law Journal publishes the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Mississippi State Bar Association.

Features

In keeping with the traditions of the Old South, the students at the University of Mississippi appreciate dignity, good manners, and beauty. It is only fitting that a portion of the annual be devoted to the recognition of the outstanding beauties and favored students on the campus. This year Fred MacMurray ranked the top five beauties. The story of how this was done may be found on page 30.

Also found in this section are Colonel Rebel, the student who best exemplifies the grand old Southern gentleman; Miss Ole Miss, the true Southern Belle; Miss University, the campus representative in the Miss Mississippi Contest; and the queens of various events such as Homecoming and Rebelee. All of these people are truly features on the Ole Miss campus.

Beauty

MISS ALINE ZAUF

'Beauty is only skin deep' is a saying definitely disproved by Aline Zauft, the only freshman to be elected a beauty. Aline has taken the campus by storm with her lovely face and sweet personality. Although she is from Duluth, Minn., Aline radiates Southern charm and attracts people to her in such a manner that makes her sorority, Chi Omega, extremely proud that she is one of their very own.

Beauty

MISS NAN RUTLEDGE

'Sweet and lovely' is Nan Rutledge, a dark eyed beauty from New Albany. Nan, a sophomore, has made her Chi Omega sisters proud of her in the short time she has been at Ole Miss. She has that rare ability to win friends quickly with her serene personality and warm charm, thus making all who know Nan expect great things for her in the future.

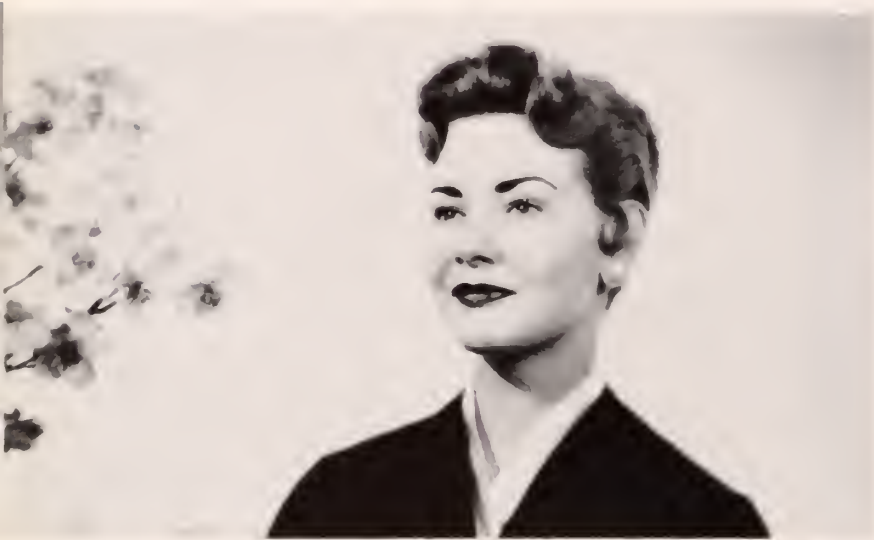

Beauty

MISS CAROL CAVIN

'A picture of queenly beauty and sophistication' are words that fit Carol Cavin as though made for her. M.S.C.W.'s loss was the University's gain when this senior beauty from Jackson transferred during her sophomore year. Carol has won many honors and much fame while on the campus and the Phi Mu's are especially proud of her reign over the campus this year as Miss Ole Miss.

Beauty

MISS MARY ANN MOBLEY

'A smile that dazzles; a beauty that attracts' are eight words that spell Mary Ann Mobley. Mary Ann, a sophomore from Brandon, is a popular beauty across the state as well as on campus. She is as much at ease strutting before a band as impressing someone with her radiant personality. For these reasons, Chi Omega ranks her as one of its top ambassadors.

Beauty

MISS MARY MARGARET STEWART

'Good things come in small packages' is proved in the person of Mary Margaret Stewart. This varsity cheerleader from Okolona is one of the KD's greatest assets, and her well known name is quick to bring smiles anywhere on the campus. Mary Margaret has won many honors and titles in her two years at Ole Miss and seems destined to continue her gain of both friends and fame.

The highest honor that an Ole Miss student can receive is to be selected in the Hall of Fame. The six members that are chosen for this honor are selected on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship and contribution to the promotion and betterment of Ole Miss.

Members of the Hall of Fame are selected in a manner which is entirely free from politics. A secret committee of eight students and eight faculty members choose twenty-five students to pick the Hall of Fame. All of the selections are done by secret ballot.

Those persons chosen for the 1957 Hall of Fame are Robert Childres, vice-president of the Associated Student Body; Ann Flautt, editor of the Mississippian; Curtiss McKee, Judicial Council and president of Omicron Delta Kappa; Robert Travis, president of Associated Student Body and Battalion Commander of the Army R.O.T.C.; Sammy Smith, president of the Y.M.C.A. and a member of the Judicial Council.

Athletics

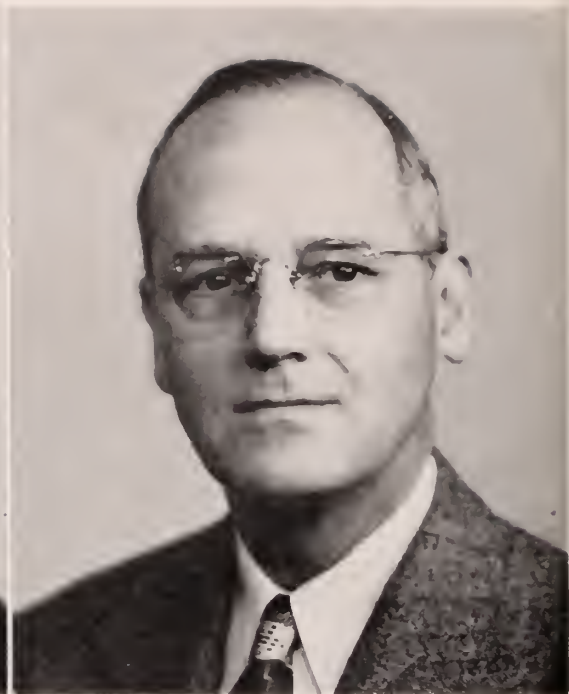

Ole Miss was the fourth university in the nation to have a football team participating in intercollegiate athletics. The man who brought football to the campus from the East and who also became the first coach was Dr. Alexander Bondurant, Professor of Greek and Latin. Since that time athletics have grown in importance and scope as the students have come to realize and appreciate the value of the sports program. Those not wishing to participate in intercollegiate athletics can play on one of the many intramural teams that encompass all sports from ping pong to football. Varsity teams fielded in every major sport have greatly increased the prestige and school spirit. The University's athletics have always played a major part in the campus activities.

CLAUDE M. "TAD" SMITH
Director of Intercollegiate Athletics

JOHN VAUGHT
Head Coach

JEFF HAMM
Business Manager of Intercollegiate Activities

Head Coach John Vaught, the most successful of all Ole Miss coaches, added another good season to his fine record, as he coached the Rebels to 7 wins against 3 losses. The T.C.U. All American finished his 10th season in Oxford with an over all record of 71 wins, 23 losses, and 5 ties.

The Rebels' offensive line is coached by Bruiser Kinard, who became the state's first All-American in 1936-37. He was All-Pro tackle in 1938-40-41-44 with Brooklyn and in 1946 with the New York Yankees. He is a charter member (one of 32) of the National Football Hall of Fame, and in 1950 was chosen Ole Miss' greatest all-time athlete.

Coach Buster Poole was another all-time great at Ole Miss in 1934-37. Selected as an All-Pro end with the N.Y. Giants in 1946, he is rated by many critics as the best defensive wingman ever to play pro football. After his great 1946 season he came to Ole Miss as end coach and began tutoring the defensive line in 1951.

Backfield Coach Junie Hovious was named to the all-time All Southeastern Conference team in 1943. Returning to Ole Miss in 1916, he assisted in coaching the backs, and coached the freshman and "B" teams until 1951 when he was made defensive backfield coach. Hovious also coaches the varsity golf team.

Backfield Coach Johnny Cain is the product of the University of Alabama. An All-American in 1933, he played a part in the defeat of Washington State in the Rose Bowl in 1930. Coach Cain was made a member of the staff in 1947.

Freshman Coach Wobble Davidson, co-captain of the 1941 Ole Miss football team, has compiled one of the most outstanding "B" team and freshman coaching records in the country. His overall record is 14-3-1.

With a background that includes a dozen years of college and professional football, Ray Poole returned in 1955. A 1946 All-Southeastern end in his last season with the Rebels, he went on to star for the New York Giants for six seasons, where he was All-Pro, and then transferred to Montreal in the Canadian League for several seasons where he was selected to be on the league's all-star team.

As the athletic department's official contact representative, Tom Swayze is one of its most valuable staffers. He was one of Ole Miss' finest all-round athletes during the thirties, playing end in football in 1930-31-32, and left-handed baseball pitcher in 1931-32-33. In addition, Swayze is also baseball coach.

Doc Knight came to Ole Miss in 1947 as trainer and track coach. A trainer is concerned only with getting the team in good physical condition, but Doc is also famous for keeping the boys in the right frame of mind by his writings posted on their locker doors.

Coach Country Graham serves as a scout and assistant freshman coach during the football months, but his main calling is coaching Rebel basketball. Coach Graham lettered in football at end in 1936-37-38 and became Mississippi's first All-American basketball player. During his 1936-37-38 era, he set 36 Southeastern Conference scoring records, some of which still stand.

OLE MISS 45 • NORTH TEXAS 0

The Ole Miss Rebels playing what might be called straight football in this age of "razzle dazzle" play, powered their way to an easy 45-0 victory over a game but completely out-manned North Texas State in the season's opener. The Rebs took the opening kickoff and drove 58 yards to the Eagle's eight. Paige Cothren split the uprights for three points and his first field goal of the year, 3-0. Ole Miss's first touchdown came as a result of an 8 yard pass from John Blalack to Don Williams. Cothren converted, 10-0. When Billy Lott broke into open field for a 40 yard score (17-0), Coach Johnny Vaught put the wraps on the regulars and turned it over to the reserves for the remaining three quarters.

The next 28 points came as follows: Raymond Brown passed 23 yds. to Leroy Reed, 24-0. Gayle Bowman scored twice from 42 yds. out, once through the middle of the line and the second on a pass interception with Brown and Dick Gray converting, 38-0. Brown added 7 points by turning right end on a keeper and converting, 45-0.

OLE MISS 37 KENTUCKY 7

The avengeful Rebels, playing spectacular football, amassed 5 touchdowns and a field goal for a 37-7 revenge victory over Kentucky. The Rebels scored the first time they got their hands on the ball, were jolted once by a Kentucky score in the first quarter and proceeded to ride down the glory road as if it had been engineered to their specifications. Eddie Crawford provided the first score with a spectacular, circus catch of a perfect 44 yard Blalack pass. Kentucky rebounded for 7 points and Paige Cothren put the Rebels out in front for good with an 8 yard field goal. Blalack was injured and Brown, taking his place, proceeded to score three times himself and pass to End Charles Burke for another. Brown's first came by way of an interception and as the climax of drives of 72 and 73 yards. Cothren converted 4 times, 37-7. Later in the season, All-American tackle Lou Michales expressed his opinion that Ole Miss was the hardest team he played all year including Tennessee and Georgia Tech.

HOUSTON 0

Ole Miss, playing both fine offensive and defensive football, defeated aerial minded Houston in Jackson for their 12th straight victory. With Paige Cothren bucking and weaving through the heavy Houston line and Brown throwing to Bowman, Crawford and Cothren, Ole Miss scored the first time it had the ball on a 94 yard march. Cothren went over from the 7 and converted, 7-0. Minutes later, Bowman took a 34 yard pass from Brown to set up the second touchdown. Crawford rammed through left tackle to score from the 13. Cothren again converted, 14-0. The Ole Miss line of Williams, Harbin, Yelverton, Hickerson, and Duck played continuously in the Cougars' backfield while linebackers Simpson and Stone roamed left and right making tackles. Houston's biggest threat came as they drove to the Rebel 4. The Ole Miss line held three times, took possession, and the Cougars' greatest threat died.

OLE MISS 16 VANDERBILT 0

Vanderbilt invaded Oxford and Hemingway Stadium as the top offensive team in the SEC, and 60 playing minutes later left with exactly 3 yards rushing and 36 in the air for a total offense of 39 yards. So great was the Ole Miss line, led by Center Jerry Stone, Guards Charles Duck and Jackie Simpson, Tackles Gene Hickerson and Billy Yelverton, and Ends Don Williams, Buddy Harbin and Billy Templeton, that the Vandy series of traps and wide plays completely folded behind the line of scrimmage. Blalack and Brown directed the Ole Miss offense for 347 yards by alternately passing and handing off to backs Bowman, Reed, Crawford, Cothren, and Taylor.

The scoring came in all four quarters. Paige Cothren, doing every thing right, kicked a field goal in each of the first three quarters and then turned over the scoring honors to Gayle Bowman who crossed the double line with a 7 yard Blalack pass, 16-0. The Rebels, superb in defense, continued to do so and led the nation in this respect for the complete season.

OLE MISS 3 • TULANE 10

Tulane's Green Wave fought from behind in the second half to score a touchdown and a field goal to beat the Rebels 10-3. Just at the opening kickoff, rain came in a driving downpour, accompanied by a 20-mile per hour wind. The Rebels elected to kickoff, held the Greenies deep in their own territory for five downs. Newton's punt slid off the side of his foot and the Rebels had possession on Tulane's 27.

Cothren and Lott moved the ball to the 6, where, on fourth down, the big fullback split the uprights for 3 points, 3-0.

Tulane received the opening kickoff in the second half and on the first play, Newton turned right tackle, slanted to the side line, outran two Rebel defenders and went all the way for the Tulane touchdown, 3-7. In the fourth quarter, Tulane added a field goal as insurance. Final score, 3-10.

With minutes left, Christian rolled back to pass, found himself trapped by hard charging Reb forwards, circled left end for 30 yards and 6 points. Nesbitt converted both times and throughout the game kept the Rebels in hot water with devastating quick kicks, one of which carried for 59 yards. Ole Miss, hampered by numerous penalties, pass interceptions, and injuries, played valiant but frustrating ball through the game. Both teams came from the corner swinging. Both went for the knockout plays, the touchdowns. Eddie Crawford received the opening kickoff and returned it 68 yards to the Tiger 29. Raymond Brown tossed to Crawford as he crossed the double stripes on the very next play. Cothren converted, 7-0. LSU rebounded with a touchdown and a field goal to make it 7-10 before the first quarter ended. Blalack hit Leroy Reed with a bullet pass and Reed cake-walked the sideline, shaking off tacklers, for 68 yards to the LSU 2 and carried around end for 6 points on the next play. Cothren converted, 14-10.

The Rebels, trailing 14-17 at the onset of the 2nd half, cashed in on interceptions by Templeton and Cothren with Crawford carrying over in both cases, 27-17. Brown and Hurst added 6 points apiece and Crawford plucked a wild Tiger pass and sped it 40 yards for his fourth touchdown, 16-17.

Brown scored first from 13 yards to climax a 44 yard drive with five minutes remaining in the first quarter. In the remaining minutes of the first quarter, the Rebels moved 94 yards with Hurst ramming over for 6 points, 13-0. With Kent Lovelace, Jerry Baker, Eddie Crawford and Cothren moving the ball 47 yards, Paslay skirted left end to open the fourth quarter, 20-0. Four minutes later, an interception by Dick Gray and a pass by the same to Don Barkley put the ball on the Memphis State 5. Reed raced around right end for the final score, 26-0. With Ray Brown passing to Lea Paslay and Eddie Crawford and fullback Cothren plunging the middle, the big blue team kept the Volunteers on their

OLE MISS 13 MISS STATE 7

This was the one. The mighty Rebels, acting upon opportunity grabbed victory from a fired up State eleven in the fourth quarter. In the second, Dodd grabbed one of the Rebels' passes and raced 45 yards for a State score, 0-7. A few minutes later, Stacy, standing on his own 2, attempting to punt, bobbled a wide pass from center and was promptly snowed under by seven Ole Miss linemen. Two plays later, Cothren scored but failed to convert for only the second time this season, 6-7.

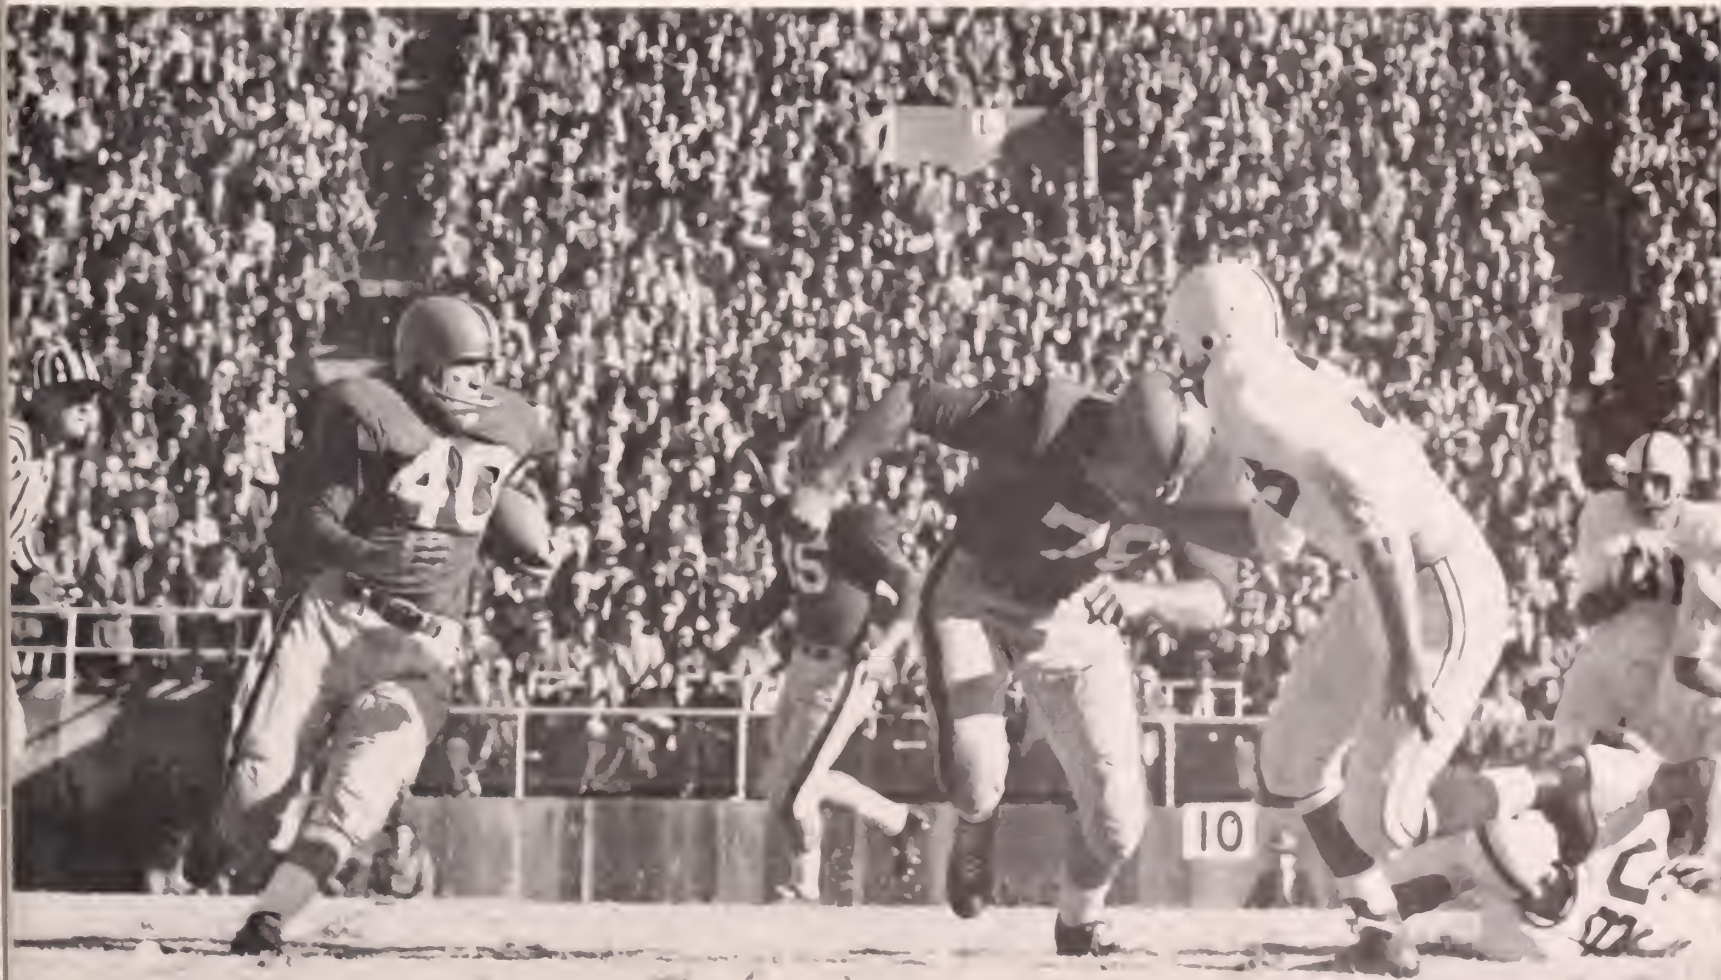

After the scoring in the second quarter, the teams saw-sawed back and forth until the fourth quarter. Midway thru the quarter, the magnificent Rebels made a goal-line stand that was one for the books. They held State seven times inside the 10 yard line—four times inside the 4. A few minutes later, Stacy attempted to run back a field goal try by Paige Cothren. He got back to the 4 where he was smeared by Charlie Burke. Eddie Crawford ran back Stacy's punt to the State 39. Five plays later, Raymond Brown carried over for 6 points and Cothren added the conversion, 13-7. The remaining minute of the game was anti-climatic. In the back-field for Ole Miss it was Brown, Crawford, Hurst and Baker, with Stone, Simpson and Duck carrying the big load up front.

A Job Well Done

This page is dedicated to all the athletes at the University. Theirs is not an easy task—going to school while practicing so as to represent the University to the best of their ability—but they do a magnificent job. To give each athlete the credit he so richly deserves is an impossible task; so this page will have to serve as a tribute to all. The men pictured here have received national recognition for their feats of athletic prowess. To them we offer congratulations and praise. To those not pictured we would like to express our regrets that we could not give them adequate recognition, and at the same time we would like to express our admiration and gratitude.

Eddie Crawford was selected to play in the Annual Seniors Bowl game for his outstanding performance at halfback.

Charles Duck was named on the second team All South and received Honorable Mention in Collier's All American for fine play at middle guard.

Paige Cothren cracks the Houston line for a first down. In addition to sterling running performance, Paige tied his own national record of six field goals in a season, and broke the former SEC record by kicking three field goals in one game. Similar consistent play earned him two First Team All American berths, All South, All SEC, and sent him to the North-South Shrine Bowl game and the Hula Bowl in Hawaii.

Jerry Stone (54) and Billy Yelverton (77) close in on an Arkansas back. Yelverton was picked on the first team All South and Honorable Mention All American. Stone, a third team All SEC selection, played in the Miami North-South Bowl.

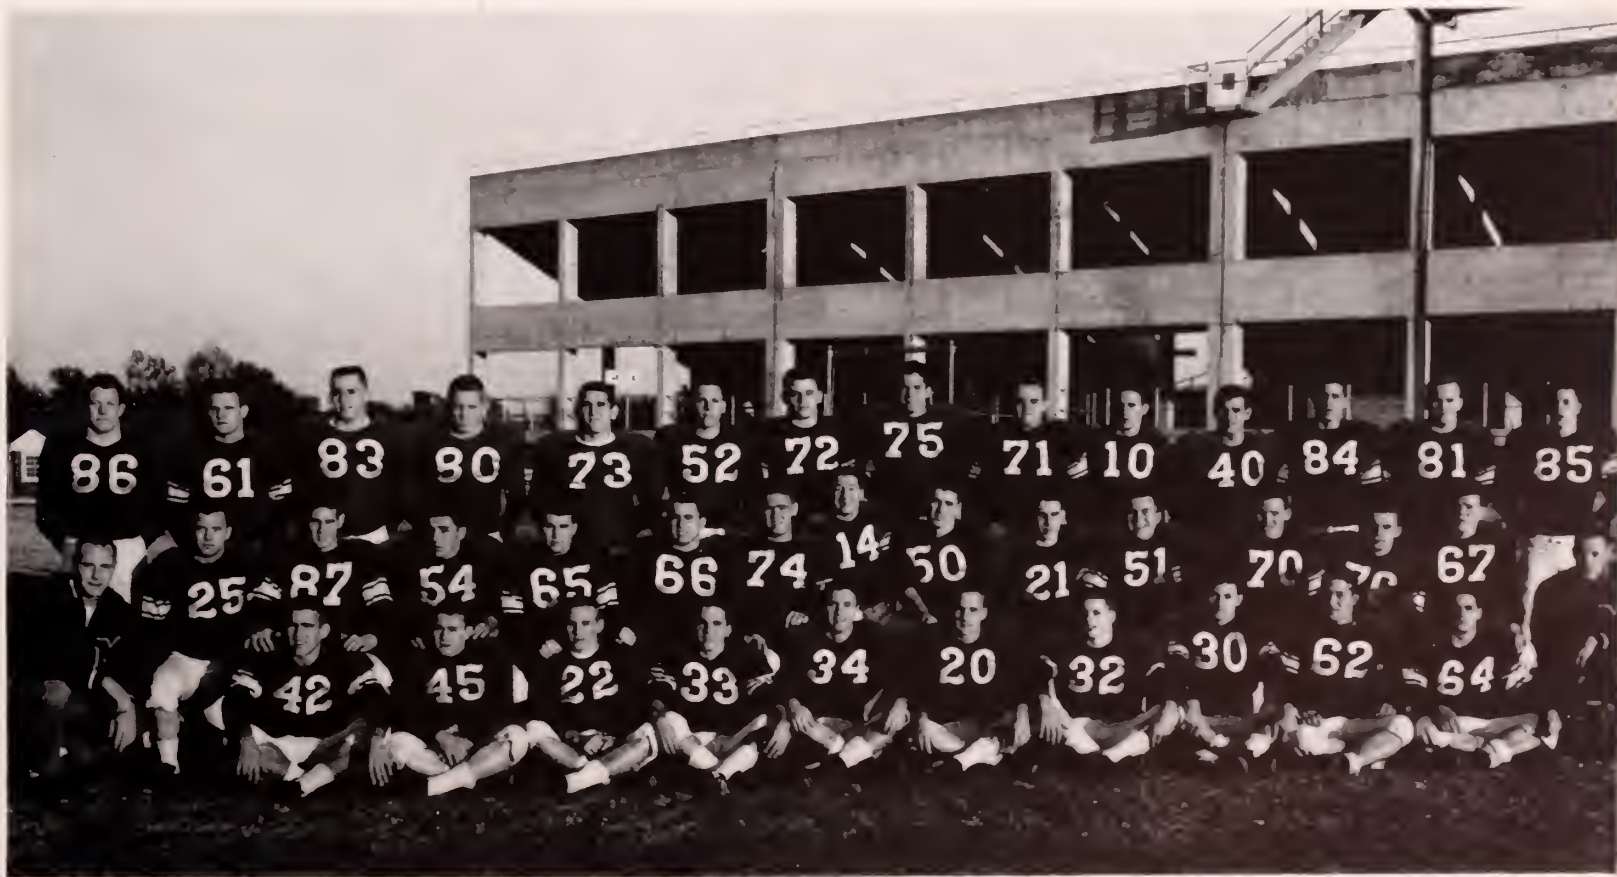

Freshman Football

The Baby Rebels launched their annual 3 game season at Baton Rouge with a gloomy 20-44 defeat but rebounded brilliantly with a 28-0 victory over Vandy and a glorious romp over cow college to the tune of 45-6. For Coach W. O. "Wobble" Davidson it was a sixth straight successful season for an overall average of 14 wins, 3 losses, and a tie. As shown in the past, freshman team experience has played a large role in the success of the varsity eleven. Many of these boys will form the Ole Miss varsity for the next three years and will have to depend upon the many lessons learned this year.

Landers (21) goes through a hole in the State line as Kirk blocks for him. It was team work such as this that gave the baby Rebels a 45 to 6 rout over the State Frosh.

Rebels in Basketball

For the most part, the 1957 basketball story was the story of Joe Gibbon, the Ole Miss captain.

The campaign itself, lacking the luster of previous seasons, may eventually become the most important staged hereabouts in many a year.

Attracted primarily by the presence of the Southeastern conference's 1-2-3 scoring leaders, Gibbon in the van; by mounting basketball interest, and the rivalry pitch in the matching of Ole Miss and State College teams, the Rebels' cramped arena, with a normal capacity of 2000, accepted more than 3000 spectators when the Maroons invaded February 28.

Fans by the hundreds were turned away. And many did not show because they had been warned that accommodations were "extremely limited."

Rebel basketballers need a new Field House—7500 seats, at least, if you please. And the campaign-closing game with State told the story—perfectly. The telling is certain to be reflected in the University's future building plans.

Concerning won-lost results, they could have been more representative—and would have been, had normal shooting tendencies not turned sour in certain extremely-close exchanges. The overall record fielded was nine victories in 21 games—9 and 12. The SEC record, good for a tenth-place tie with Georgia, was four victories in 14 games—4 and 10.

Concerning Gibbon, complete dividends could not be tabulated as the 1957 OLE MISS Volume 63 went to press. With regular-season campaigning ended, he was the 1957 SEC Scoring King with 631 points in 21 games endowing him with a 30.05 average. That much, for certain.

But national scoring honors were at stake, too, and with tournament results yet to be tabulated, Gibbon's second place on the national scene, based on that 30.05-point average, could be altered—up or down—as tourney scoring entered the picture.

Coach Graham and Joe Gibbon, Captain.

Jim Miller (22) tips a rebound to teammate Joe Gibbon (16) in the overtime victory over East Tennessee State.

Nor had 1957 All-America lineups been released.

Gibbon was selected the SEC's Most Valuable player in the Atlanta Constitution Player's Team. He was the lone unanimous choice on the United Press All-SEC, was certain to make the still-unannounced Associated Press team.

Gibbon counted 455 conference-game points, only nine behind Bob Pettit's all-time high of 464, set in 1954. His were the second-highest averages—30.05 and 25.5—ever recorded by a conference player.

Needless to report, Gibbon erased every school point record of any significance. He became the first Ole Miss player to reach 1600 career points, scoring 1601 in four varsity campaigns. And he established new three and two-season records of 1152 and 1119 points.

Natch, his 631 and 455-point totals were new standards. Fact of the matter, he left little for ace marksmen of the past—Denver Blackeen, 1954-1955; Robert Cob Jarvis, 1952-53-54, and Reb coach Bonnie (Country) Graham, 1936-37-38—to retain as personal property.

He counted 43 points against Tennessee for new single-game and home court records, then erased that standard with 46 at LSU. He scored 17 of 18 free throws against Georgia for a new high in conference competition, and 15 field goals against Tennessee and LSU for a new SEC record in this category. His per-game average of 14.1 rebounds left a record trail.

He entered one new SEC record for posterity with 139 conference-game foul goals, eight more than the 131 entered by Georgia's Zippy Morocco in 1953. There were other standards—school records—of a miscellaneous nature. At least 20 fell before his southpaw scoring.

It was Gibbon's closing sprint which made the difference. He counted 220 points in the Rebs' last six games, a 36.66-point pace. At season's end, he had been invited to participate in two post-season all-star games—at Kansas City March 25 in the Shrine East-West game, and at New York March 30 in the Herald-Tribune East-West game.

One of Gibbon's starting associates during the campaign was senior guard Wade Lindsey, a slim lefthander who averaged 13.2 points a game. He closed with a 21-point night in the campaign finale against State.

Carlton Garner (166 points, 8.7-point average), a forward; Bobby Williams (149, 8.3), guard; Bobby Robinson (73, 3.8), who played at forward and guard; Jimmie Graves (98, 4.7), center; Jim Miller (80, 4.4), center; Jim Tom Atherton (83, 4.4), guard; Wayland Inman (74, 4.3), center-forward; Carter Brown (20, 2.5), forward, and Garnie Hatch (10, 1.1), guard, were other squadmembers, all of whom started in one or more games. Garner, Williams, Robinson, Graves, Miller and Atherton played in more or less regular capacity as starters.

The Rebs were far from the weakest lineup in the conference. Neither were they the luckiest.

Usually with remarkable accuracy from the free throw line, they deserted character long enough to lose a 66-65 bout with Tulane, a 75-69 verdict to SEC champion Kentucky, by 82-78 to Georgia Tech and a windup brawl with Mississippi State, 81-73.

On each occasion, the Rebs either outgunned foes from the floor (Tulane & Tucky) or broke even in field goal dealing.

Fouls which were not called—and such officiating results were obvious enough to mention—made a difference in the Tulane (first game), Tech and Kentucky results.

Latching on to these four scalps—the Greenies, Wildcats, Engineers and Maroons—would have brightened the cage chart by considerable—to 13-8 overall and 8-6 in league warfare.

Wayland Inman (21) adds two points against Austin Peay in the Rebel Victory.

Jumping Joe Gibbon hits for two points as Jimmy Graves and Bobby Williams watch.

Three defeats did sizzle—to Vanderbilt in a December non-conference duel, to Auburn in early January, to Tulane in late February. Otherwise, the loss margin was by a skimpy 7.4 points.

And much of this score difference might have been provided by Williams, a junior guard and one of the team's most accurate marksmen, who lamed an ankle on January 7, was of little value thereafter.

One campaign battle staged in Memphis because of the Rebels' handbox gym, found Kentucky on the ropes throughout, a late winner by six points. The Rebs had led through most of the contest, were trailing by 71-69 with 18 seconds remaining when Kentucky's "freeze" tactics brought two fouls and four charity points, two after the game had ended. And so it went.

Graduating Rebs from 1956-57 are Capt. Gibbon, Lindsey, Miller and Inman. Garner, Williams, Robinson, Graves, Atherton and Brown were the other lettermen named, along with senior manager Billy Roberts, as valuable and as efficient a basketball aide as the Rebels have had in a long, long time.

The complete season tally, in order: Non-conference games—Southeastern Louisiana College, 75-55; East Tennessee State (overtime), 89-88; Vanderbilt, 61-90; Arkansas State, 87-66; Austin Peay, 82-68; Arkansas State, 79-78 (overtime); Virginia, 81-83; Conference Games—Alabama, 84-93; Auburn, 66-88; Vanderbilt, 68-66; Tech, 78-82; Mississippi State, 72-82; Tulane, 65-66; LSU, 79-73; Kentucky, 69-75; Tennessee, 88-98; Georgia, 99-91; Florida, 82-91; Tulane, 74-102; LSU, 83-76, and Mississippi State, 73-81.

Baseball in 1956

In baseball, which has been something of a championship parade in recent years, Ole Miss enjoyed unparalleled success during 1956 operations.

Could have been better—it could have been.

But be it remembered that the Yankees dropped the first two games of the '56 World Series to the fair-skinned Dodgers, then went on to fling Series dust in Dodger faces.

On that basis, and even a seven-game series isn't a fair appraisal, the Rebels never had a chance.

In the middle of a batting slump, they fell victim to well-balanced Florida in the East-West Southeastern conference title playoffs, 8-3 and 5-1.

Because Florida had run afoul of NCAA regulations, was on probation, Western Division champion Ole Miss was selected to represent the conference in postseason NCAA play.

It was then that the Rebels, in line for another pair of baseball championships, turned in an incredible showing. And "Cinderella" wasn't the word for it.

With the NCAA banning a fourth campaign for any varsity performer, FRESHMAN, sophomore, junior AND senior, Coach Tom Swayze lost the services of (1) three-fourths of his infield including the team's leading hitter, All-American second baseman Bernie Schreiber; Capt. Eddie Crawford, All-SEC center fielder, the league's home run leader, and two front-line pitchers in Don Goad and Archie White. Along with Schreiber, a three-season All-Conference selection, infielders dismantled were fancy-fielding first baseman Bill Scott and shortstop Buddy Garrison.

Losing fully 50 per cent of front-line strength, it wasn't figured the Rebs could make much headway.

However, in the District III tournament in Gastonia, N. C., and in the College World Series in Omaha, Neb., Swayze made effective tactical use of 14 of his 16 remaining squadmembers, transferring catcher Buddy Chain to shortstop, a most important decision, and working eight Rebs in two or more positions.

All luck was not of the horseshoe variety—third baseman Eagle Day laming an ankle to shadow his effectiveness, and second baseman Leroy Reed, Jr., transferred from shortstop, moving to the dugout after spraining an ankle in the Duke series at Gastonia. And the hitting doldrums continued into early action in District III meetings.

Still, the revamped lineups sent against Tennessee Tech in first-round action remained in contention, chiefly by virtue of the five and one-hit pitching furnished by Buddy Wittichen and lefty Cecil Burford. The scores were 4-3 and 3-2. Gibbon drove in three runs in the opener with a triple and home run, Wittichen the marginal run, Chain and John Lee Gainey held key RBI's in the second decision.

Against Duke, which had upset favored Florida State, the Rebs really warmed to their work. They stumbled in the opener of what was to be a triple-header day, losing 4-2 despite five-hit hurling by Gibbon, who went 6 $\frac{1}{3}$ innings, and Dick Shelton; then they mashed the Blue Devils 6-2 and 7-1 with Wittichen and Gibbon, in relief, the winning pitchers in the decisive games.

Ole Miss wasted 11 hits in the first game, was led at bat by Chain and Gibbon in winning the middle contest, by Day and Wittichen in the finale, Duke was out-hit 29-18.

Concerning transformations, Gibbon's was most productive at Gastonia. Chosen the tourney's best hitter and outfielder, he patrolled right field when not pitching. He hit a lusty .438 with two homers, a triple and double and four RBI's. Burford drew the "Best Pitcher" accolade.

Chain hit .400 at Gastonia with two doubles and a triple; Wittichen, plowing the path between first and the pitching mound, finished with .333 as did Reed.

At Omaha the Rebels failed to get past their third big hurdle. Beating New Hampshire 13-12 after building a 13-3 lead, and Bradley 4-0 behind Wittichen's one-hit throwing, Ole Miss ran out of pitching vitamins against Minnesota, the eventual champion, and was beaten 13-5. And Arizona, finalists against the Gophers, won 7-3 to close the door. That was a semifinal game. Ole Miss, the first SEC representative to make the College World Series since Tennessee in 1951, finished as the nation's No. 3 college team.

Chain led the tourney in hitting with .526. Jerry Bynum, co-regular behind the bat in regular-season scoring, hit .462. Gibbon furnished .333, Wittichen .273. Chain collected two triples and a double, Gibbon a homer and double.

In their first post-season bid, the Rebs wound up with the eighth-best record in overall NCAA records—six victories and three defeats—and here's how they were positioned in Swayze's realignment probing (regular-season position in parenthesis):

Chain (c), SS; Bynum (c), C, 2B, 1B; Gibbon (p), RF; Burford (p), P; Wittichen (p), P, 1B; Shelton (p), P, 1B; Del Farmer (p), P; Raymond Brown (1b), 1B; Reed (ss), 2B; Billy Johnson (2b), 2B; Joe Pegram (utl.), 2B, 3B; Eagle Day, (3b), 3B, P; Billy Kinard, (lf), C, LF, RF; Gainey (rf), CF; Don Williams (rf), RF, LF.

Bynum, Gibbon, Wittichen and Kinard were the most active in transferring from one beat to another.

Overall, start to finish, there were 34 games. Ole Miss won 24. In regular-season SEC totals, the record was 13-3. It was 18-5 in all games. Of the championships at stake—SEC Western Division, the SEC title, NCAA District III and College World Series—the Rebs won a pair, finished second and third.

CENTER: Eagle Day, Raymond Brown (15), and Bill Scott (17) greet Joe Gibbon after he hit the first home run of the NCAA tournament.

BOTTOM: John Lee Gainey and Billy Kinard get some hitting tips from Coach Tom Swayze.

All-SEC designations in regular-campaign play went to Schreiber, 2B; Crawford, CF; Gibbon, P; Kinard, utility outfield, and Day, utility infield. Schreiber led the conference in hitting with .443. He drove in 24 runs, collected six triples and nine doubles. Other Reb leaders at bat were Gibbon, .400; Shelton, .375; Day, .366; Wittichen, .353; Chain, .300; Crawford, .293; Williams, .286; Kinard, .284; Garrison, .268, and Scott, .238. The team average was .293 with 340 total bases registered on 225 hits.

Ole Miss captured its divisional crown by winning ten straight following a 3-3 introduction. After taking three of four from Delta State (2-0) and Illinois Wesleyan (1-1), LSU was beaten twice after winning a 2-1 campaign-opener and Alabama won two of three at Tuscaloosa, the finale by 14-13.

After rain had erased a series with Arkansas State, Mississippi State was good for two decisions, Tulane was beaten in three games in New Orleans, Vanderbilt in three tilts here, and State College twice in the windup pair at Starkville. 'Bama trailed by two games at season's end. For other non-conference results, Loyola and the Rebs divided in a pair at New Orleans, and Arkansas State was beaten in a single game at Jonesboro.

Superlative pitching marked most debates. Burford, who posted a 6-0 record, an ERA of 1.93, threw a 7-inning, 3-0 no-hitter at Vanderbilt. He blanked Tulane 1-0 on five hits, threw a four-hitter at Illinois Wesleyan, blanked LSU 11-0 on five safeties and checked State with five hits.

Wittichen's record was 3-0 and 1.56, Gibbon, 5-2 and 1.26, limited 'Bama to one hit in 4²/₃ relief innings; held State to six hits in each of two victories, Tulane to two and Vandy to five in a 7-0 shutout. Other decisions were posted by White, 3-0 and 2.55; Goad, 1-1 and 4.64, and Shelton, 0-1 and Farmer 0-1. The combined team ERA was 2.51.

Graduating members of the 1956 squad: Goad, White and Shelton; Bynum; Scott, Schreiber, Garrison and Day, and Kinard and Capt. Crawford.

Ole Miss "M" Club

The M Club of the University of Mississippi is composed of those men who have lettered in one of the University's major intercollegiate sports, which are: football, basketball, baseball, and track.

The purpose of the M Club is to promote excellence in athletic ability and to promote the general welfare of athletics on the Ole Miss campus. Only the members of the M Club are qualified to wear the Ole Miss "M," which distinguishes these men as winners of the athletic award.

Each year the M Club sponsors the annual M Club dance which is held sometime during the football season. Also during the season, an annual M Club Day is held at which time the club alumni are invited to return to the campus as honorary guests. To wind up the social activities, the M Club has a final party after the spring initiation of members.

It is the responsibility of the cheerleaders at the University to work with the ASB Department of School Spirit in maintaining school spirit and exhibiting a certain amount of it at every athletic event. They are elected to this position by the students in a campus-wide election each year. They arrange the pep rallies with the band, and they publicize them so that the students will know when and where to be. When the teams play games off the campus the cheerleaders are the first to appear on the scene and get the students organized so that they can show the team we are behind them no matter where they play.

The freshman cheerleaders are chosen by the varsity cheerleaders on the basis of try-outs held in the early fall of each year.

The Rebel Band

Featured twirlers, Miss Bonnie Grove and Miss Barbara Marshall.

The year 1956-57 was a great year for the Ole Miss Band. A dream of many years came true—the band got new uniforms. These new uniforms are styled after the uniform worn by the southern soldiers in the War Between the States. They were received in time to be worn for the first time at Homecoming. In these new uniforms the band is truly “the Band of the South.”

During the football season the band put on half-time shows at seven of the ten games. Most of the shows were built around our heritage as Southerners. After football season the band was able to put away the marches in favor of symphonies as the concert season started. This is probably the most enjoyable part of the band’s program, because the members have the opportunity of playing the greatest works of major composers. One particularly brilliant piece of music that the band worked on was the finale to Tchaikovsky’s 4th Symphony in F minor. This and many other pieces formed the varied repertoire of the concert band.

Women's Recreation Association

The Women's Recreation Association was founded at the University of Mississippi in 1926. It is composed of all girls participating in the intramural sports activities that are conducted on the Ole Miss campus. The organization is governed by a board of representatives from each organization that sponsors a team in any of the independent groups.

This group has as its purpose the provision of activities that the girls at the University of Mississippi can enjoy in their leisure time. A sense of competition and an incentive toward participation is stirred up by awarding points to the winning teams in each event. At the end of the year the points are added up and the group with the greatest number of points wins a trophy.

Intramural Council

The Intramural Council, founded at the University of Mississippi in 1935, is composed of students representing each group of students—social fraternities, organizations, etc.—that participates in the intramural program here on the campus. It is their job to organize and carry out the various intramural programs that are conducted at Ole Miss. They set up the rules and regulations regarding the eligibility of students to participate and the other necessary regulations.

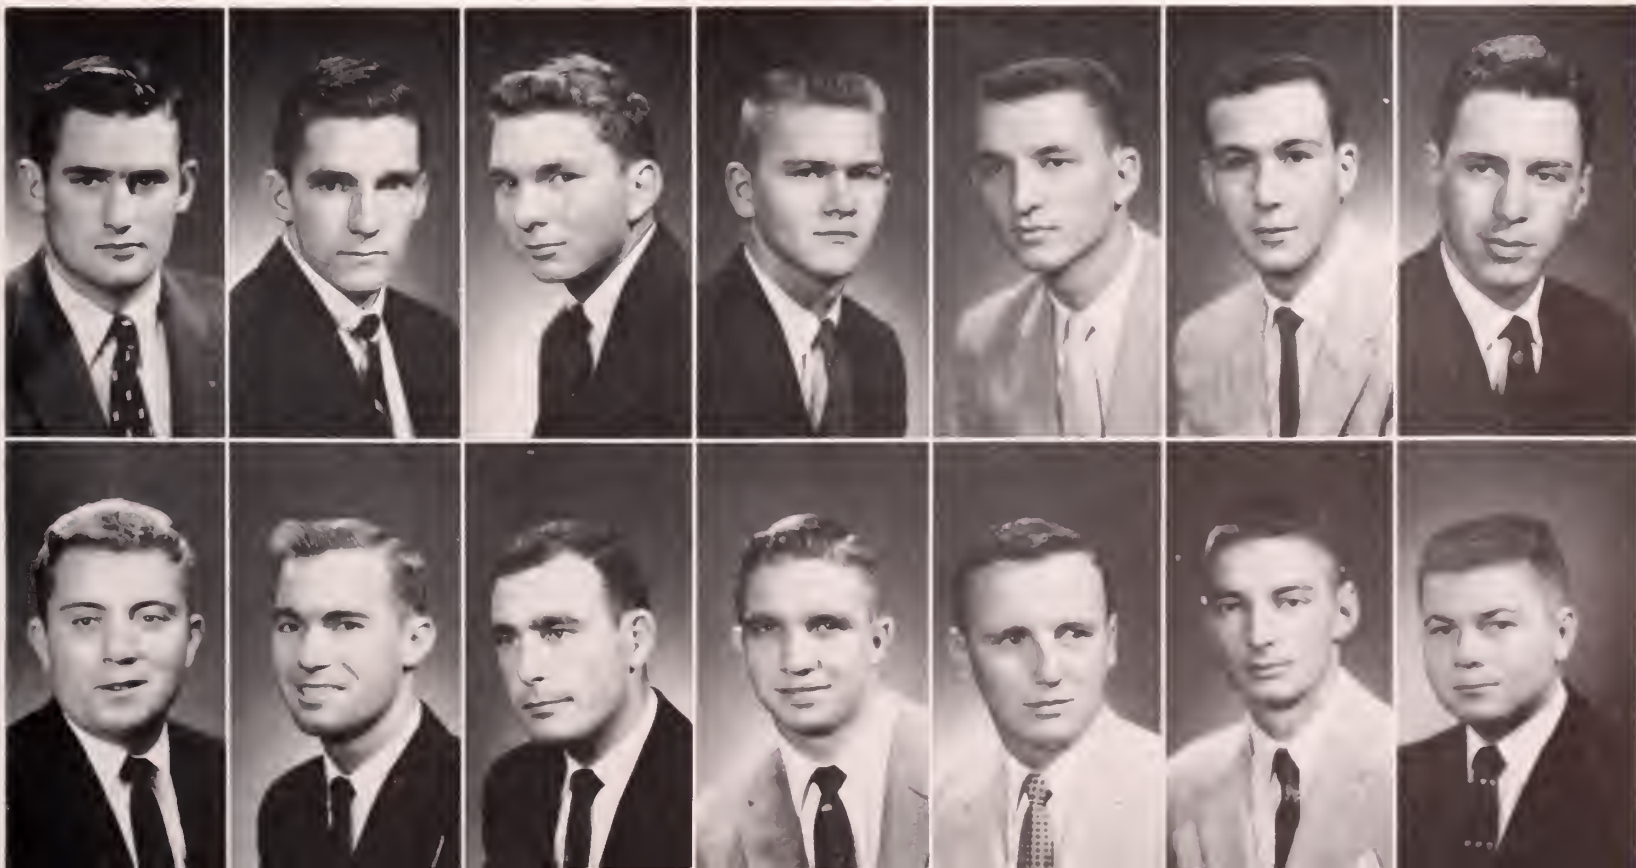

Because of the number of groups participating in the intramural program, leagues have to be set up for the various sports and play-offs are necessary. The members of the intramural council draw for their respective groups to see which league they will be in. Throughout the year it is the duty and obligation of the members to keep their groups informed as to when their teams play and where.

Points are given to the winners and runners-up of the various sports. At the end of the year the points are totaled, and the team having the greatest number of points receives a trophy. The trophy may be kept for a year, but must be returned at the end of that time. If a group wins the trophy for three years in a row, it gets to retire the trophy.

YOUR ALUMNI HOUSE

Your Alumni House is always open to returning Ole Miss graduates. Offering the most modern hotel accommodations, it was opened in 1951. The Alumni House is located adjacent to the Continuation Center which permits citizens from throughout the state to use its facilities as they attend conferences and short courses there.

Outstanding artists and lecturers appearing at the University make the Alumni House their headquarters during their stay in Oxford.

Students in fraternities and sororities on the campus of the University of Mississippi compose about 35 per cent of the student body. There are 16 fraternities and 7 sororities, all affiliated with national organizations. Being social groups, they, naturally, provide many of the parties which make college life more enjoyable. All of these parties are open to anyone on the campus, thus improving the social life of the student body as a whole.

Much more than this is accomplished, however, as they compete with each other to see which group can excel in each field. This competition substantially raises the standards of their members.

More benefit is derived from the parties which they give for underprivileged children at Christmas time and from various projects and services which they perform during Help Week.

The Pan-Hellenic Council of the University of Mississippi is a member of the National Pan-Hellenic Conference, which has organizations on the campuses of the leading colleges and universities in the United States. Its purpose is to further active cooperation and understanding among the sororities, between sorority and non-sorority women, and between the sororities and the university.

Always working for the good of the University, Pan-Hellenic Council strives to promote fine intellectual achievement and scholarship, to maintain high social standards, and to promote worthy projects on the campus. All regulations concerning rush are formulated and enforced by this council. It sets up the methods concerning the rushing of girls each year, limiting the number to be pledged by each sorority and regulating the system by which bids are issued.

The Council is composed of the presidents of each of the sororities and two additional representatives from each group. Each representative is elected by her own sorority. The officers of the council are selected on a rotation system with each sorority having an officer of Pan-Hellenic Council at regular intervals.

Each summer Pan-Hellenic sends a copy of the rush rules to prospective women students and entertains the rushees with a tea on the first day of formal rush.

With their owl to guide them, Chi Omega came to Ole Miss in 1899 shortly after being founded at the University of Arkansas in 1895. There are 119 chapters which claim the colors of cardinal and straw and the carnation as flower. Guiding Tau Chapter is Bess Moore with Judy Toler to take over when she is not there. Dean Faulkner calls the roll, and Alice Barnes controls the money. Managing Rush is Mary Brown, and, afterwards, Nancy Williams trains the pledges. Among their social events are open houses, date suppers, and legacy parties in addition to an Eleusian Banquet on Founders' Day. With the new addition to their house as a setting, Chi O Belle took a trip to Disneyland during Rush. Representing them in organizations is Judy Toler as President of the YWCA and vice-president of Mortar Board. Mary Ann Strong guides the sophomore Y, and Nancy Williams handles the job as Chairman of the Committee of 100. Mary Ann Mobley parades with the band, while Marion Warfield and Linda Lackey yell as Freshmen Cheerleaders. Serving as Army sponsors are Judy Toler, Ann Koehler, Frances Bell, and Barbara Smith with Mary Brown representing the Arnold Air Society. Arriving at Ole Miss in 1904, Chi Chapter of Delta Delta Delta set about making its silver, gold, and blue along with its pansy well known. Founded at Boston University on Thanksgiving Eve in 1888, Tri Delt now has 99 chapters. Leading them on this campus is Frances Jean Williams, assisted by Panny Flautt. While Nan Dunklin answers mail, Emily Sue Norsworthy keeps the minutes. Jean Wall, as treasurer, is aided by Mary Alice McWaters. Completing the picture are chaplains Peggy Evans and Eone Chatham, who guard the door. They're especially proud of their new house which sits imposingly on sorority row. Wearing Mickey Mouse outfits and children's clothes, they began the year by entertaining rushees at a Kiddie Party. At Christmas there was the Pine Party, with Christmas gift money going to the aid of a poor family. Later in the year came Delta Week during which pledges were initiated. Closing the week was the Pansy Breakfast with mothers as guests. Date suppers, Founder's Day Banquet, and other parties helped fill the time devoted to social life. All loyal Tri Delt read the Mississippian, which is edited by Panny Flautt. Nan Dunklin attends Campus Senate meetings as Associated Student Body Secretary. During football season Pat Cousins led cheers at pep rallies and ball games. Dressed in sponsors' uniforms, Kay Davis and Barbara McCurdy attend Air Force functions. Campus favorites who represent Delta Delta Delta are Shirley Wagner, Dot Webb, and Nan Dunklin.

ALPHA PHI CHAPTER

Originally founded in Oxford at the Lewis School in January of 1874, Delta Gamma established Alpha Phi Chapter at Ole Miss in 1936. Eighty-four chapters honor a cream-colored rose and wear the colors of bronze, pink, and blue. Holding command is Gloria Williams with Linda Brickell as her second. Treasurers Margaret Houston and Mary Ellen Greenlee keep records of the money, while Jackie DeMange and Jeannice Garrett take care of the secretary's job. During the year they entertain with such affairs as a dinner for campus hostesses at Christmas and their annual Christmas Party. On Founders' Day they celebrate with a banquet, and all attend church together. There are also date suppers and open houses which complete the social calendar. Rushes take a trip to the land of fantasy at their Dreamland Party. Their pride and joy is Barbara Marshall, who was Rebelee Queen, head majorette, and president of W.R.A. At ball games we saw Buena English, who led a few cheers and at half-time Lucy Meadows and Kay Stringer twirled their batons. Not to be left out, DG's claimed two freshmen cheerleaders; Carolyn Hill Thomas and Lucy Meadows. Serving as president of the WSGA was Kay Kirkland, as Jeannice Garrett beat the gavel at Mortar Board meetings. Sylvia Hunter collected money as treasurer of the YWCA, while sponsors, Barbara Hill, Lucy Meadows, and Jeannice Garrett reviewed the troops. ALPHA MU CHAPTER

Kappa Delta came to Ole Miss in 1927, after its formation at Virginia State Teachers College on October 23, 1897. With olive green and pearl white as colors, there are now 94 chapters which hold in reverence the white rose. Their council is composed of Janet Brown as president with Jean Thompson as second in command. Rena Jean Whittington is secretary, and treasurer Mary Ann Shelton is assisted by Jane Coleman. To complete the group are Jean McClenahan as membership chairman and Jan Priester as editor. During the year these girls entertain with various parties and other social functions such as a tea for their housemother and date suppers. On Founders' Day they have a big banquet, and throughout the year there are Big Sister and Little Sister parties. Kitchen facilities are available, and they often cook supper for dates. Becoming a bit lively in Rush, they don their devil's costumes and treat Rushees to a visit to the red hot KD Hades. Well represented on campus, KDs are especially proud of Homecoming Queen Mary Margaret Stewart, who is also Engineering Queen, a cheerleader, and a favorite. Other favorites are Sheila Doggett and Shirley Ann Godbold, who is a majorette along with Jene Smith. Jane Coleman attends Pan-Hellenic meetings and serves as treasurer, while Sally McCosh does the same for Junior Pan-Hellenic. Leading cheers for the Freshmen is Marilyn Crowley, and Janet Brown serves as secretary of Mortar Board.

DELTA RHO CHAPTER

Easily recognized by their golden key, the wearers of the blue and blue arrived at Ole Miss ten years ago to establish Delta Rho chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Founded at Monmouth College in 1870, Kappa now has 86 chapters. Mary Virginia McInnis leads the Ole Miss group with Jean Nail standing by to offer assistance. Keeping notes is Jan Holmes, while Joni Carpenter writes letters. Sandra Lominick balances the monthly budgets and sends the bills. Throughout the year, the chapter keeps busy with various social activities such as teas for their housemother, open house for pledges, as well as various date suppers and fraternity banquets. At Christmas they make an annual event of the Faculty Tea and a party for underprivileged children. During Rush their house is transformed into the moss-draped Court of Kappa Sisters, as New Orleans lends its influence. Cheerleader Peggy Woodmansee keeps up the spirit, while Sally Greenlee performs at Freshman games and parades as majorette along with Martha Fields Campbell. Over at the Y, Jean Lull heads the Freshmen, while Betty Harrell presides over the Juniors. In honoraries it is Betty Weiss as CWENS president and Heard Butler as Mortar Board secretary. Sue Aikins heads Alpha Lambda Delta, as Jean Nail reports campus social life to the Missippian. In the military life are Air Force sponsor Ebbie Smith and Navy sponsor Helen Hollowell. In the fall there is a Big-Little Sister Banquet followed later by a Christmas party for underprivileged children which is given by the pledges. In the spring they celebrate Founders' Day with a banquet, and at various intervals throughout the year entertain at date suppers and pledge-active parties. Making it a yearly event, the Phi Mu's once again claimed first place for their Homecoming Decorations and received the trophy. Dressed as angels they take Rushees on a trip to Phi Mu Heaven where some of them remain to become members. Outstanding in their group is Carol Cavin who is Miss Ole Miss and president of Pan-Hellenic as well as Navy battalion sponsor. In the majorette line are Betty Black, Martha Dale Johnston, Jill Applewhite, and champion twirler, Bonnie Grove. In addition, Bonnie Grove cheers at Freshmen games. Gamma Delta Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha came to Our Miss in 1939. Founded at Virginia State Normal School on October 15, 1898, ZTA boasts 98 chapters. Members are fond of white violets and the colors of steel grey and turquoise blue. Leading the group as president is Dot Cockerham with Sylvia Elias lending her assistance as vice-president. Secretaries are Ann Tidwell and Jean Sealy, while Diane Schroeder and Betty Bach guard the purse strings. Every fall they celebrate Founders' Day with a special banquet and ceremony, and at Christmas give a party for underprivileged children. Both pledges and actives celebrated Christmas with parties, and at other times they entertained each other. Date suppers, open houses, and a formal dance complete the social picture. Every spring the pledges participate in a work week-end and give the house its seasonal cleaning. Come Rush Week and their house turns into a big top as they present the traditional Circus Party, complete with clowns, performers, and other Circus characters. Displaying their musical ability, Zetas received first place at Sing Song. However, to prove their versatility, they won the WRA Softball Trophy and claimed the prize for best booths at Rebelee. Strutting with the band are majorettes Neal Foust and June Blankenship. Sylvia Elias does work over at the Y, and Betty Bach is outstanding in journalism circles. Junior Pan-Hellenic Council is an organization which prepares pledges for more competent leadership within the sororities and on the Ole Miss campus. Its organization is similar to that of senior Pan-Hellenic, and helps to familiarize the pledges with the activities of that organization.

Junior Pan-Hellenic is composed of the president and two representatives from each sorority pledge class. The officers are selected on the same rotation system that the officers of senior Pan-Hellenic are. Miss Harriet Jackson and Carol Cavin, advisor and president, respectively, of Senior Pan-Hellenic, are the advisors for the group this year.

Monthly meetings are held during which the pledges discuss problems which have come up within their pledge classes. Junior Pan-Hellenic also offers suggestions concerning the method of rush on the Ole Miss campus, since the members have recently been through rush. New ideas are discussed which help improve the rush system.

The Inter-Fraternity Council is an organization designed to regulate and govern the activities of all social fraternities on the University campus. The main duty of the Council is carried out each year in the planning, setting up, and enforcement of rules for fraternity rush. Through the co-ordination of activities, the Inter-Fraternity Council tends to unite the fraternities in a spirit of friendly brotherhood.

It is composed of two representatives from each fraternity. Each representative is chosen by the fraternity of which he is a member. The Council is governed by four officers elected from the membership by the Council, itself.

DELTA PSI CHAPTER

Alpha Tau Omega was the first Greek-letter fraternity organized after the War between the States. It was founded at Richmond, Virginia, on 11 September, 1865, and its first chapter was established at the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Virginia.

Its founders were three young Confederate soldiers. Their prime object was to restore the Union, to unite fraternally the young men of the South with those of the North and to foster a Christian brotherhood dedicated to the task of achieving and cherishing permanent peace. They found their inspiration in the sentiment: "No North, no South, no East, no West."

The ATO's came to the University of Mississippi in 1927. Since that time the chapter has grown in stature until it has reached its present position of high respect on the campus. An indication of the leadership which this chapter possesses can be found in the record of any of its members. To cite a few examples: the president, Bela Chain, is a member of the varsity baseball team while serving on the Judicial Council and serving as a member of ODK. Serving as co-chairman of the Committee of 100 is Nick Abdo, while Billy Russell acts as chairman of the ASB Dance Committee.

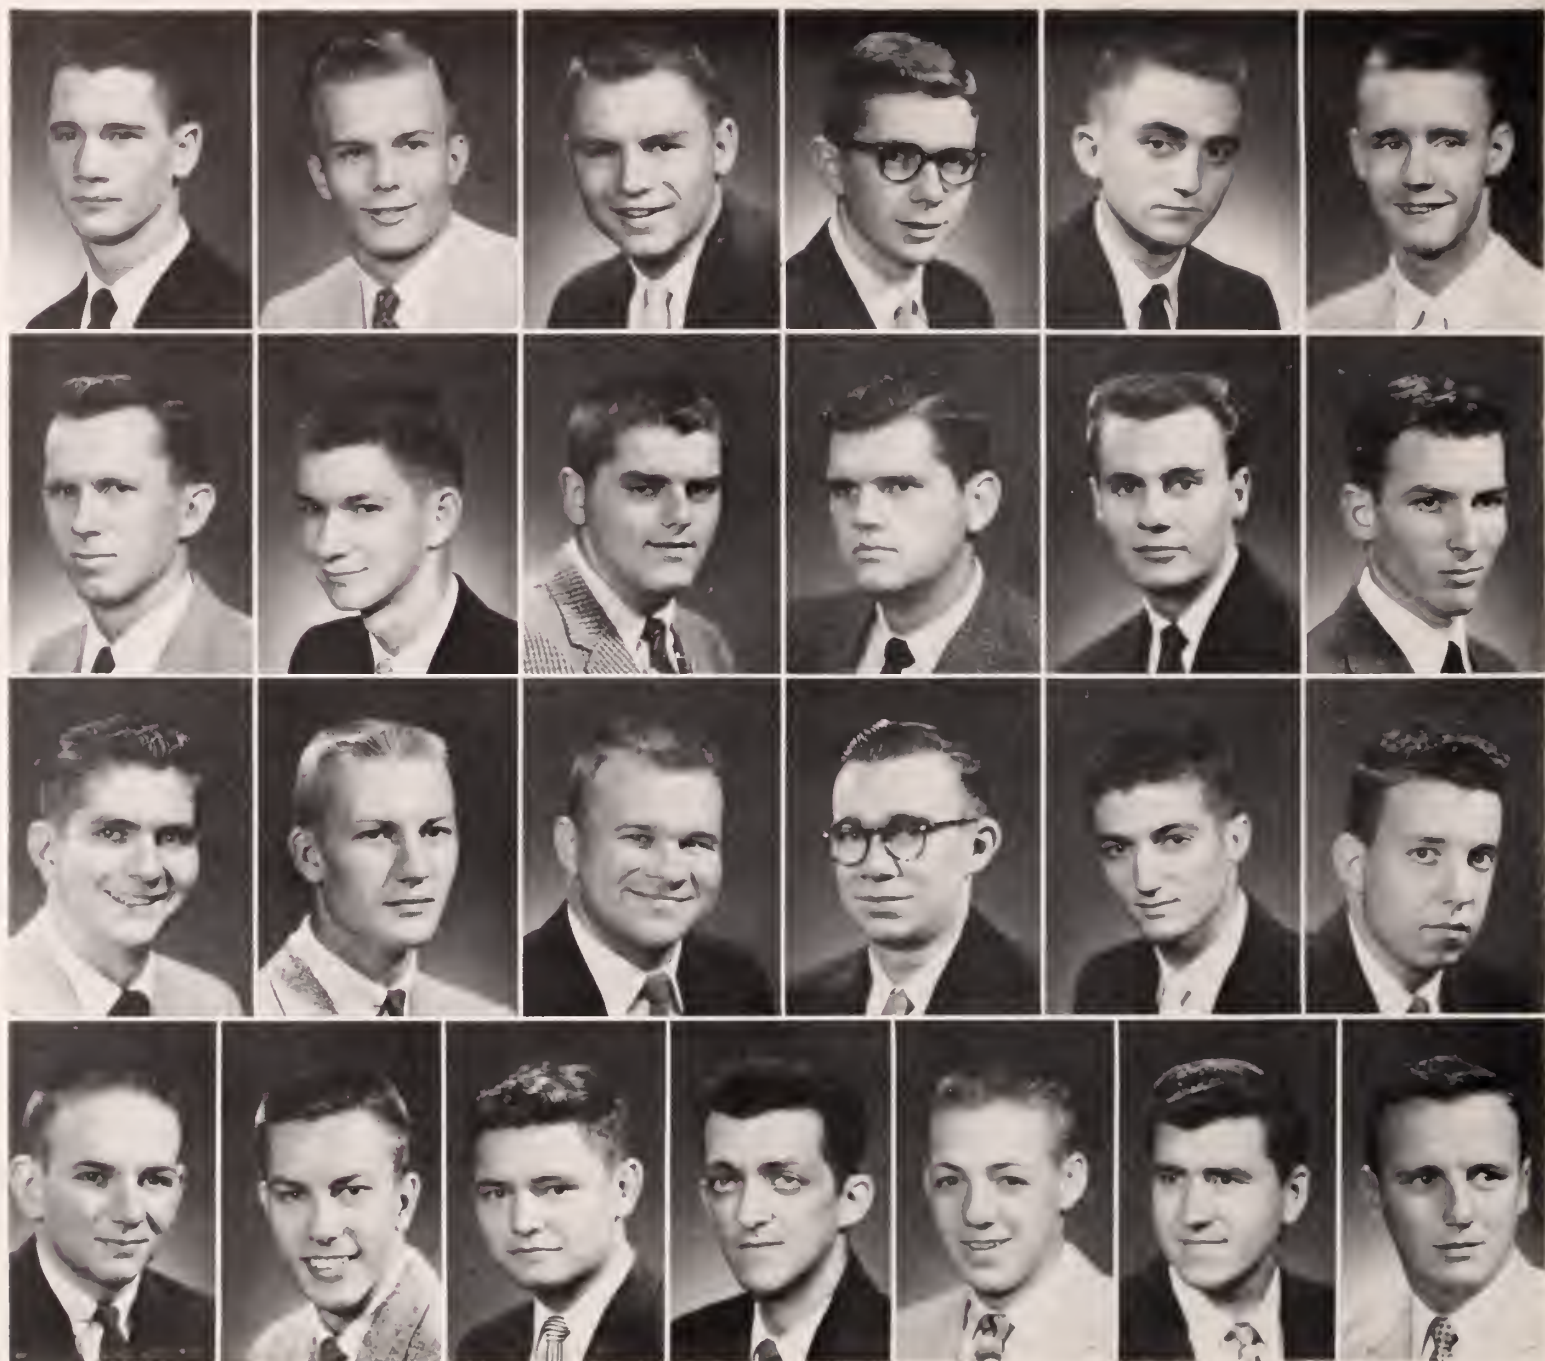

The boys have a lodge located on a lake about six miles east of the campus where many good parties are held. At their annual spring formal the colors of ATO, blue and gold, and the white tea rose are used to good advantage.

BETA BETA CHAPTER

One hundred and seventeen years ago on August 8, 1839, the sparkle of the Beta Theta Pi Diamond first appeared on the campus of Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. Beta Theta Pi is the oldest social fraternity to be founded as such and was the first member of the famed "Miami Triad." In subsequent years the Diamond has come to rest on practically every major college campus in the United States. There are now ninety-six Beta chapters in thirty-seven states and two provinces in Canada.

The Diamond's rays fell on the University of Mississippi campus in 1879, when members of the now extinct Mystic Seven were incorporated into Beta Theta Pi. Since then the diamond has been carried into every phase of campus activities by fraternal brothers and leaders. This year, Bill Schellhammer is Managing Editor of the Mississippian along with his duties as president of the Ole Miss 30 Club. Dick Moore wheels at the Navy building while Thor Anderson announces for the campus radio station, WCBH.

Their social calendar is filled throughout the year with all sorts of parties, including dances, outings, and their annual spring formal. They also join with the Phi Delta Thetas and the Sigma Chis, other members of the Miami Triad, in giving a Miami Triad party each year, thus helping to demonstrate the inter-fraternity fellowship found on this campus.

The pink rose was chosen as their national flower, while the Beta Beta chapter here at Ole Miss favors the Magnolia. Betas everywhere proudly display their fraternity colors of pink and blue.

CHI CHAPTER

After having been founded in 1814 at Yale, the Dekes came to the University of Mississippi in 1850, where they were not only the first fraternity to be established on the campus of the two year old school but also the first one to be established in the entire state. At their annual spring formal they decorate with their colors of blue, gold, and crimson. Usually it is too early for them to catch their favorite flower, the pansy, in bloom, but they use it to good advantage where possible.

These boys are socially minded and know how to have a good time. For the home games they display a sign which cordially welcomes everyone and invites them to attend their open house. There were parties galore as they started off the Homecoming weekend and the State-game weekend with a Friday night celebration.

There is much more to this group than just the desire to have a good time. Each member strives to live up to the standards set by their founding fathers and to inculcate a desire for the better things in life in themselves and those around them.

Buddy Harbin played a lot of good football for the Rebels this year while Nowlin Keener spotted and wrote the sports copy for the OLE Miss. The Dekes are looking forward to seeing a lot of action next year out of Decker Terry and Bobby Posegay. Larry Bonds, their prexy, takes some pictures.

Delta Psi was founded in 1847, at Columbia University in New York City. They started a chapter on the Ole Miss campus in 1855. Although the Dekes beat them here, it was the Delta Psis who erected the first fraternity house at the University as well as in the state. Their fraternity colors of azure, blue, and gold were brought with them and are used, whenever possible, for decoration.

This year the Delta Psis completed an addition to their house which provides a housemother's suite and dining facilities for the members. This will add a great deal to the bond of brotherhood, as they will be able to be together much more.

The fraternity is rather unique in that they do not publish their officers. This is just one phase of their concept of secrecy. They feel that this secrecy serves as a bond to unite the members of the fraternity.

In its one hundred and two years on the campus, Delta Psi has strived to make leaders of its men. To find evidence of their success, one needs only to look at the list of alumni in order to find the names of former governor Hugh L. White, Representative Will Whittington, Speaker of the House Walter Sillers, and President Emeritus G. T. Gillespie.

Another tradition with Delta Psi is that of never taking one's pin off. The boys receive much kidding about this, but they stick by the rule as they should.

ALPHA UPSILON CHAPTER

For some 90 years, the Kappa Alpha Order has trained young college men to cherish the Southern ideal of character, by honoring and protecting pure womanhood, practicing courtesy, self-control, and preferring self respect to ill-gotten gain. Their aim is to perpetuate the Southern ideal of a gentleman of which Robert E. Lee, their spiritual founder, is the perfect example.

The Kappa Alpha Order was founded in 1865, at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia, and, since that time has expanded into seventy-six chapters, all south of the Mason-Dixon Line. The Kappa Alpha Rose is first in their garden, while crimson and old gold catch their eyes in the way of colors.

The Alpha Upsilon chapter was established on the University of Mississippi campus in 1900. The KAs here continue to be leaders in all activities. These leaders include Jack Barksdale, President of the Commerce School; Charles Scott, Business Manager of the Mississippian; Gene McRoberts, President of ODK; and Walter Denny, Group Commander of the Air Force ROTC.

For the past few years, the KAs seem to have had a monopoly on intramural football and basketball teams, and they won the intramural trophy again last year.

Under the able leadership of Walter Denny they were privileged, this year, to move into a completely renovated house with provisions for a housemother and dining facilities. The new house affords an excellent place to hold their numerous social functions throughout the year.

DELTA XI CHAPTER

Kappa Sigma, the oldest fraternal order other than the Masons, dates its beginnings to 1100, at the University of Bologna, Italy. It was on 10 December, 1869, that Kappa Sigma came into the United States at the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, Virginia. Since that time, 128 chapters have been organized in the United States and Canada, one of which, Delta Xi, came on the University of Mississippi campus in 1926. To the Kappa Sigs, scarlet, white and emerald green are tops, and the lily of the valley is their flower.

The Kappa Sigs have long been active in campus activities, exhibiting their desire to further the University whenever possible. Of the last seven presidents of the Associated Student Body, three have been Kappa Sigs. Ted Quimby is active in debate and other forensic activities. He was elected the President Pro Tempore to the Senate at the Mississippi Youth Congress this year.

The social calendar of the Kappa Sigs is liberally spiced with parties of many different types. There are the usual date suppers, combo dances at the house, and parties for their little sisters, the Chi O's. The climax of the social season comes in the spring when the Kappa Sigs have their annual formal. From then until the end of school many of the good brothers can be found water-skiing at Sardis. Although many good times are had by the Kappa Sigs, the emphasis is upon moral and intellectual growth.

ALPHA CHAPTER

On 26 December, 1848, Phi Delta Theta completed her first century of uninterrupted existence. One hundred years performed a miracle of growth and achievement far beyond the fondest hopes of the first Phis who gathered around Phi Delta Theta's altars. Little did they dream that one day the fraternity's chapters would be found in 43 states of the United States, in six provinces of Canada, and in Nova Scotia. The groundwork so carefully laid by the immortal six founders has resulted in 119 active chapters. Since its founding at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1848, more than 80,000 men have signed the Bond of Phi Delta Theta.

Besides leading all other fraternities in the number of members selected as Rhodes scholars and All-American football players, Phi Delta Theta has prominent members in every field of endeavor, including the presidency of the United States. Since its founding on the Ole Miss campus, in 1877, this chapter has maintained its high standards and produced many leaders at the University.

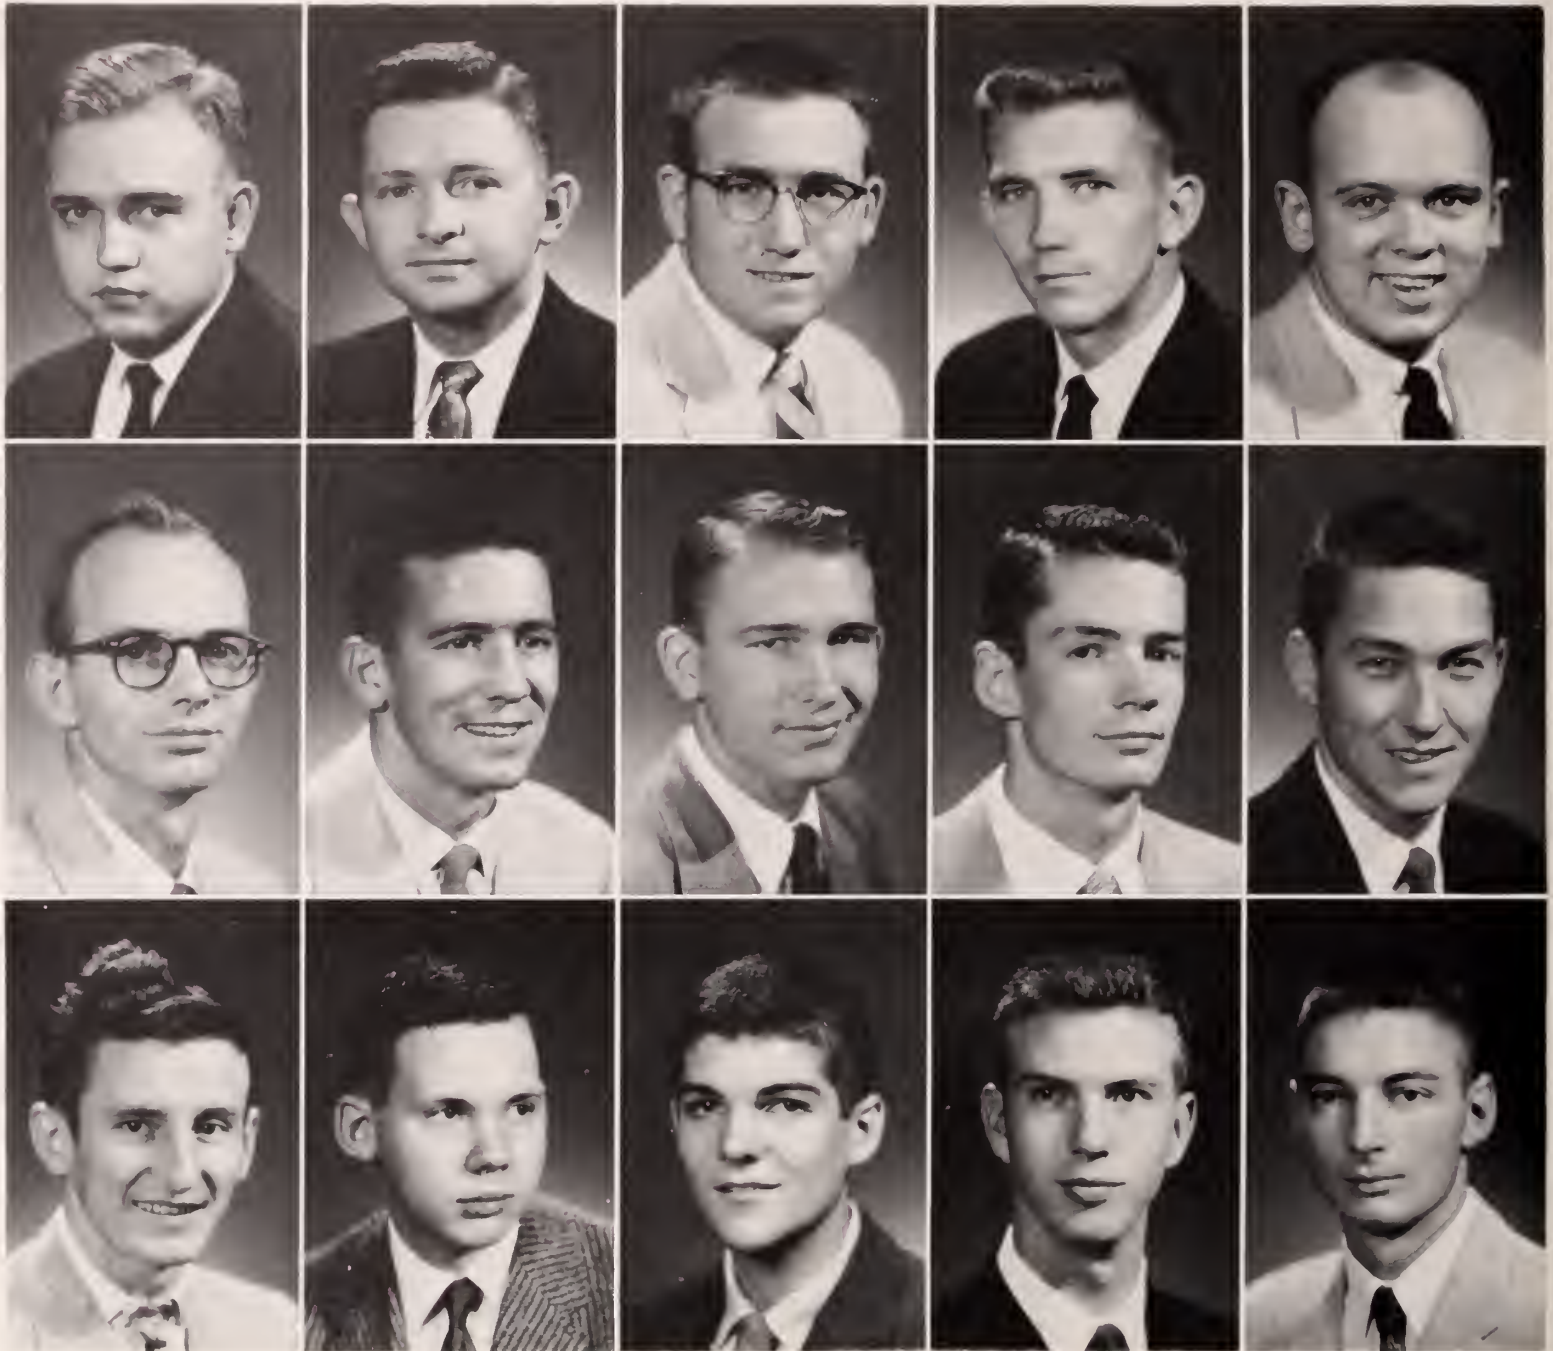

This year Larry McCool was battalion commander of the NROTC unit. Tom Hines was President of the College of Liberal Arts, while Ed Connell served as president of Delta Sigma Pi and as a member of the ASB President's Cabinet. Another post on the President's Cabinet was held by Lee Davis Thames who also was editor of the OLE MISS and treasurer of ODK. Joe Durrett is president of Engineering School. These are only a few of the men who exemplify the high ideals and abilities of every Phi Delta Theta.

ALPHA CHAPTER

Phi Kappa Psi was founded at Jefferson College in Pennsylvania in 1852. It took them just five years to see the advantages Ole Miss had to offer, and they started a chapter on this campus in 1857, bringing with them their colors of red and green; and, as if Mississippi did not already have some, they brought roses along.

The boys do a good job of living up to the title of their favorite song, "Noble Fraternity." A true sign of nobility was the generosity which they showed at their Christmas party for underprivileged children this year.

They do not confine themselves to working only for the fraternity, however. The entire chapter signed up for the Beard Growing Contest to help increase interest in Dixie Week. One of the good brothers, Don Comer, reached the finals. Helping with advanced ticket sales for the A.S.B. Dance Committee, Freeman Johnson also finds time to play an active part in student government by heading several committees in the Campus Senate.

All work and no play makes a dull Phi Psi. Realizing this the brothers have their annual formal in the spring in addition to date suppers and informal dances throughout the year.

The group is ably led by President William Fortenberry, while Peter Thompson stands behind him. Don Comer takes minutes and writes letters. Some folks claim that John McGuirk is a carpetbagger from Yankee land as he performs his duties as treasurer.

GAMMA IOTA CHAPTER

The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity was founded on 1 March, 1868, at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Virginia, by a group of six Confederate veterans. These men bound themselves together in a common cause with a comradeship cemented by the rigors of war and mutual devotion. Since that time Pi Kappa Alpha has grown until it has become one of the five largest fraternities in the United States. The chapter on the Ole Miss campus was founded in 1927. Garnet and gold are the colors that were chosen by the six founders who also chose lily of the valley as the flower.

To insure that its members do not forget the primary aim of a social fraternity, the Gamma Iota chapter has its annual Dream Girl Ball. Supplementing this there are date suppers, masquerade parties, and parties for the Tri Deltas, their little sisters.

The Pikes take time from their parties to participate in all phases of campus activities. Bob Childress is Vice-President of the Associated Student Body as well as Vice-President of ODK. Jack Dunbar serves as president of the School of Law, while Thad Cochran performed a less dignified, but equally as important, job of leading cheers at the football games.

A highly regarded member of the fraternity system, Pi Kappa Alpha is a solidly established brotherhood, with strong chapters in the best American colleges and universities throughout the land.

GAMMA CHAPTER

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the first Southern fraternity, was founded on March 9, 1856, at the University of Alabama by a group of eight close friends. Under the guidance of these men, it grew until, today, the fraternity is the largest in the nation with 131 chapters and nearly 83,000 initiates. National headquarters for the fraternity is the Levere Memorial Temple at Evanston, Illinois. The building is named for William C. Levere, a great fraternity leader.

Gamma chapter was established at Ole Miss in 1866, with a flourish of purple and gold and the scent of violets. Two of Minerva's lions guard the entrance to the new house which was finished last March.

Some of the more prominent SAE brothers on the campus are Ralph Peeples, president of the Intramural Council; Johnny Hoar, drum major of the Rebel Band; Sonny Spivey, president of the Interfraternity Council; and Wes Watkins, Head Cheerleader.

There is always an abundance of parties where these boys are concerned. Date suppers, formals, "B-Shack" get-togethers, football trips (especially the one to Tennessee), and paint removing parties serve to round out their social calendar.

They give keen competition in the intramural matches and usually manage to field a good team in just about every sport.

Almost any night one can go to the girls' dorms around eleven o'clock and hear them serenading. Their slogan is "Phi Alpha" and their favorite pastime seems to be smoking alfalfa.

The founding of Sigma Chi Fraternity took place at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, during June, 1855. Sigma Chi was the third fraternity to be founded at Miami and completed the famous "Miami Triad." The fraternity was founded by seven men from different walks of life with different personalities, yet having the same high ideals. Since that humble beginning, 99 years ago, Sigma Chi, like its founders, has risen to success in many fields of endeavor. The Constantine Chapter of Sigma Chi was formed during the late part of the Civil War to perpetuate the fraternity in the South. This chapter has served as a model for chapters formed all over the world in times of war by many fraternities.

Eta chapter was established at the University in 1857, and, since that time, have consistently produced their share of campus leaders. Among this year's edition are Bob Travis, President of the Associated Student Body; Sammy Smith, president of the "Y"; Eddie Crawford, Raymond Brown, and Leroy Reed, football stars; Eddie Crawford, Colonel Rebel; and many others.

Their national song, "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," is an old favorite on everyone's list. Ground-breaking ceremonies for their new house took place at homecoming this year, and they expect to have it completed by next year. Blue and gold, along with white roses, grace their spring formal which is held on the tennis courts each year in May.

EPSILON XI CHAPTER

Sigma Nu, originally known as the Legion of Honor, was founded 1 January 1869, at Virginia Military Institute. Since its founding, Sigma Nu has grown into one of the nation's leading social fraternities, with 123 chapters in 46 states and Canada.

Certainly, fundamental in their growth are the aims which are expressed in the Sigma Nu Creed, "To believe in the life of love, to walk in the way of honor, to serve in the light of truth, this is the life, the way, the light of Sigma Nu. . . ."

Epsilon Xi Chapter received its charter in 1927, and has enjoyed a very active life on the University campus since that time. Among the more prominent brothers are George Cossar, Treasurer of the Associated Student Body, and Bill Mallory, who was elected President Pro Tempore of the Campus Senate.

They have one of the largest houses on the campus, and their housemother serves meals to the members. Eating together several times a day greatly increases the feeling of brotherhood among the Sigma Nus.

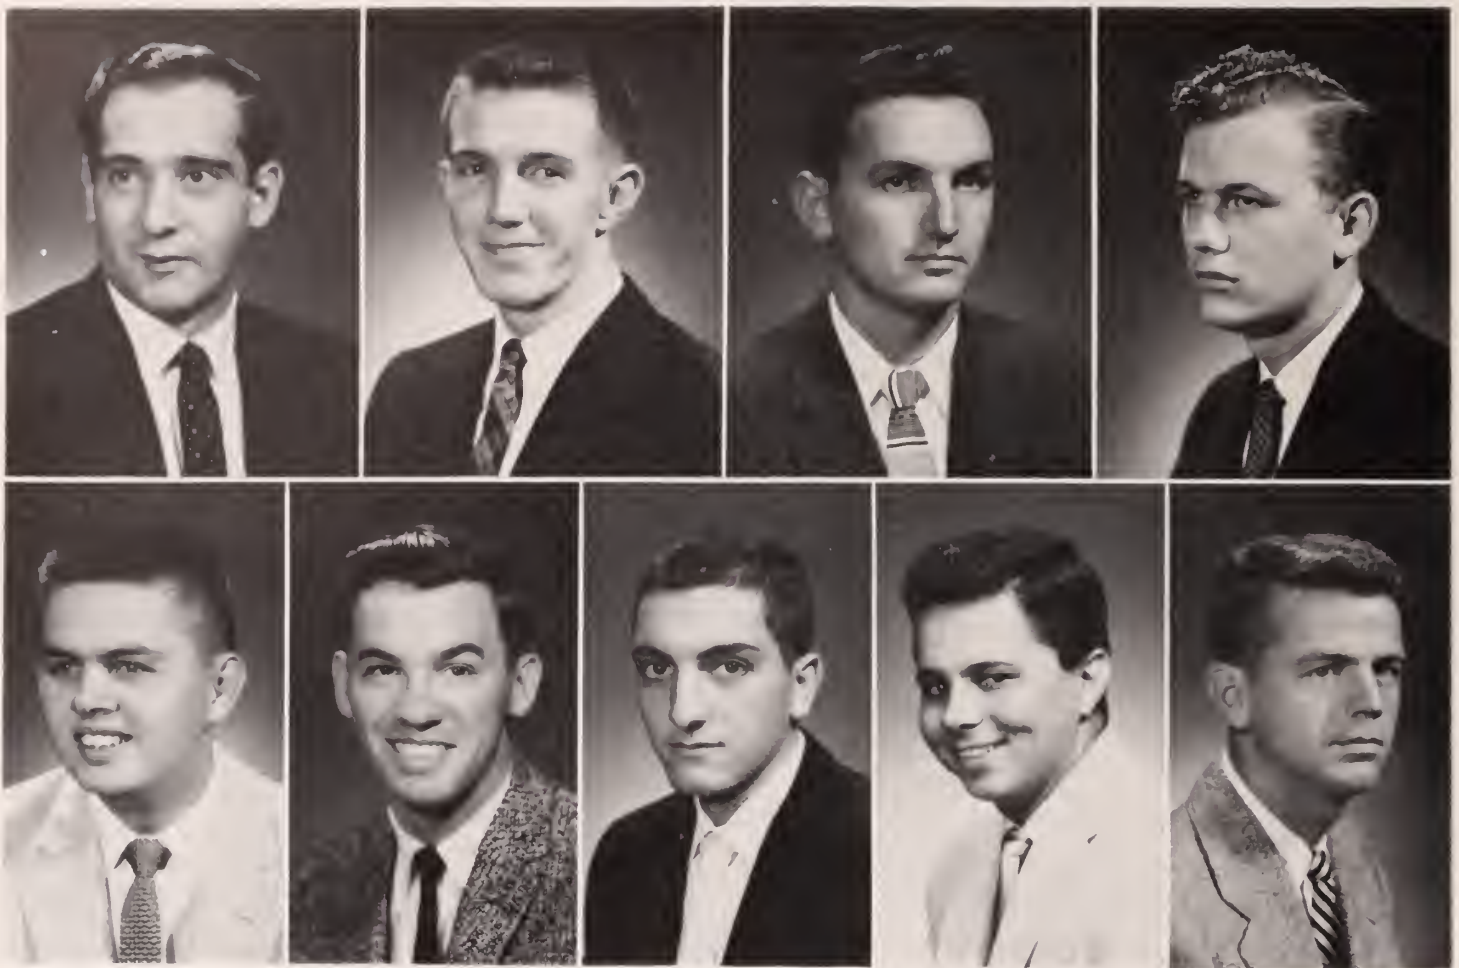

The "Snakes" have always held their own in intramural competition. Last year they fielded the championship volleyball team and excelled in other sports as well.

To fill their social calendar, they hold many parties throughout the year including date suppers, house dances, and their spring formal, where the colors of gold, black, and white, along with white roses prevail. They also join with the ATOs in giving the traditional Blackfoot-Whitefoot Ball each year.

Theta Kappa Phi was founded, in 1922, by students of Lehigh and Penn State, and came to this campus in 1949. A national social fraternity for Catholic men, its purpose is to bring students into a brotherly relationship; promote the spirit of good fellowship; encourage the attainment of high scholastic standing and to offer each and every member that training and environment which characterizes the university man.

Each member is obligated to help his brother to the utmost of his ability and to maintain the honor and dignity of his university. In accordance with the Theta Kappa Phi fraternity spirit, they try to always manifest a public spirit and lively interest in all that concerns the life and welfare of the school.

Their colors are red, silver and gold, and they have chosen the columbine as the fraternity flower. Ray Pelatowski takes minutes at the Intramural Council, while Dick Hogan presides over the Newman Club.

Four Vincennes (Indiana) University students met on February 26, 1897, and founded Sigma Pi Fraternity. The objectives of Sigma Pi are to establish a brotherhood of, and for, college men; to promote scholarship; to advance truth and justice; to diffuse culture; and to encourage chivalry among men. Through a well-balanced program of social events and many other activities, Sigma Pi aims to make for better citizenship, prepare its members to cope with the problems of life, and instill within them an appreciation of life's real values.

Sigma Pi did not come to the University until 1952, but it has already earned a permanent place for itself on the campus. John Ray Gipson acts as Sergeant-at-Arms in Campus Senate meetings, while Donnie Thompson counts votes on the ASB Elections Committee and William Russell is a member of ODK.

They favor lavender and gold as their fraternity colors, and present orchids to their "Sweetheart of Sigma Pi."

With its main offices in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, the Phi Eps have chapters in all the leading universities.

Alpha Sigma chapter came to Ole Miss on the 16th day of February 1935, and has been active on this campus for nineteen years. During these nineteen years, Phi Epsilon Pi has given the University some outstanding leaders in various fields. Among these are Marshall Goldberg, Judge Samuel I. Roseman, and Dr. Abram L. Sachar.

This year Don Samuels heads the Judicial Council, while Earl Soloman is Sports Editor of the Mississippian, Benard Meltzer announces for WCBH, and Buz Solomon does Senate work.

The white carnation is the fraternity flower, and the Phi Eps proudly display purple and gold.

Sigma Phi Epsilon was founded at Richmond, Virginia, in 1901, and has grown into 135 chapters today. Mississippi Alpha chapter was established on the University campus in 1928. Their aim is to grow in strength and build leadership and character in all its members. Within the ties of a closely knit brotherhood on this campus, Sig Ep offers an opportunity for the development of leadership and the achievement of high scholarship in addition to an active social program.

On the rolls of Sigma Phi Epsilon are famous brothers such as Virginia's Senator Harry Byrd, Governor McKenlin of Maryland, Basil O'Conner, Ted Mack, Woody Herman, and General Franklin A. Hart, U.S.M.C.

Clay Wispell is a member of the Pershing Rifles and Jerry Hatcher is a big deal over at the Navy Unit.

They recognize the colors of purple and red as the national hues and have dual choices of the American beauty rose and violets for their floral symbols.

Organizations

On the campus of the University of Mississippi there are more than 200 organizations for students to join. Of course, no one would or could join them all, but it is well to have so many in order to provide at least one organization for each field of interest. Some of these organizations are honorary, being designed to give the student recognition for a job well done in certain fields. Others are of the service type, providing common ground on which people of similar interest can meet and enabling them to accomplish things which they could not have done alone. The pages that follow show just a few of the many organizations that are on the campus and tell something about each one.

Membership in Omicron Delta Kappa is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a male student at the University of Mississippi. The members are chosen on the basis of leadership, which they have exhibited as well as certain moral and intellectual standards set up by the circle.

Although primarily an honorary organization, ODK performs many services to the University and its students. Its principal project is the forum series, sponsored in conjunction with Mortar Board, which brings nationally and internationally known figures to the campus to speak on pertinent topics. During the fall semester, when the Near East crisis was at its peak, ODK invited a representative of the Arab States to give the Arab side of the question. This event was followed by a similar meeting several weeks later, in which the Israeli viewpoint was discussed by a spokesman from that government.

To be considered for membership in ODK, a person must be in the upper one-third of his class, scholastically. Membership must include only two per cent of the total male enrollment and must be apportioned among the five phases into which ODK divides college life. Those phases are: (1) scholarship, (2) athletics, (3) student government, (4) publications, and (5) speech, music, and dramatic arts.

President Ed Connell shows the Delta Sigma Pi Scrapbook to Johnny DeCell, a new initiate, as Carl Morris and Bob Guyton look on.

Delta Sigma Pi was founded at New York University School of Commerce, Accounts, and Finance, on November 7, 1907. Alpha Phi Chapter was established at the University of Mississippi in 1927. Membership is limited to men in the School of Commerce and Business Administration who meet the necessary scholastic requirements and unanimously pass the chapter.

Today, Delta Sigma Pi is the second largest professional fraternity in the United States. International in scope, it is a professional business administration fraternity which fosters the study of business in colleges and universities; encourages scholarship and the association of students for their mutual practice; promotes closer affiliation between the commercial world and the students of commerce, and furthers a higher standard of commercial welfare of the community.

Delta Sigma Pi sponsors tours of leading industries, conducts programs with prominent speakers from the business world, and promotes discussions and films about important topics of interest to commerce students. Each year, the fraternity, in cooperation with the School of Commerce and Business Administration, sponsors Commerce Day. In the spring, Delta Sigma Pi holds its annual Rose Ball at which time the Rose of Delta Sigma Pi and her court are presented.

The student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association was chartered at the University of Mississippi in 1936. Membership is open to all students in the School of Pharmacy. Student members enjoy all the privileges of membership in the National Association except the right to vote on matters concerning the parent group. They have, however, a full voice in operating the affairs of the student branch.

The purposes of the organization are to advance pharmacy and pharmaceutical knowledge and practice, to maintain a high professional standard among its members, to foster discussion among students of pharmacy, and to establish a central point of reference and union for its members.

Student participation in the programs is encouraged so as to reach the goal of the Association more easily. Programs at the meetings are designed to aid the students, with guest speakers being frequently invited to speak to the group.

Mortar Board

The honor of membership in Mortar Board has come to symbolize an outstanding contribution to the Ole Miss campus in the fields of scholarship, leadership, and service. Each spring Mortar Board re-evaluates its own contributions and standards, then, on Honors Day in Fulton Chapel, taps new members according to its highest ideals. Mortar Board is more than an honorary organization, however. The campus situation is constantly studied, and service is rendered when needed.

Mortar Board joins with ODK in sponsoring the ODK-Mortar Board Forum series which continues throughout the year. They invite internationally famous persons to speak on pertinent subjects. Honors Day is also under their supervision.

Anchor and Chain

Anchor and Chain was organized at the University of Mississippi in 1947. Since its earliest days, the primary function of this organization has been to promote esprit de corps in the Naval ROTC Unit through meetings, social activities, and an active intramural participation. The programs at the meetings usually include a guest speaker from some phase of Naval or Marine service. Toward the close of the year, Anchor and Chain tries to acquaint the members who are going on cruise in the summer with the various aspects, requirements, and other matters of interest of each cruise. The members are held closely together because of one common interest—becoming an officer in the United States Navy.

The Ole Miss "Y"

"Religion and Life are one and the same, or neither is anything," believes the University Christian Association. It strives in many ways to unite a campus of natural fragmentation—both social and academic—into a real community based upon a common ground: that of believers in God. Its purposes can easily be discovered in the many types of activities within the organization's program.

These activities are carried out through the joint YMCA-YWCA. The Y meets every Monday evening in its own building for worship, study, fellowship, and service. The heart of the Y is the Cabinet, student leaders who direct Y-sponsored activities—convocations, retreats, stunt night, and countless other projects in cooperation with other campus groups.

The Newman Club is composed of the Roman Catholic students attending University of Mississippi. It takes its name from the English clergyman and scholar of the nineteenth century. John Henry Cardinal Newman, who had a special interest in students. The purpose of the club is to foster and deepen the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of its members whenever possible.

The religious side consists of Mass and Communion together along with retreats and Days of Recollection. On the intellectual side, discussion classes are held on philosophical, sociological, and religious subjects.

Many projects are worked on so as to accomplish a double good—that is, aiding some person or group of persons while, at the same time, promoting Roman Catholic ideals on the campus and helping the individuals to develop.

The Wesley Foundation is the organization in the Methodist Church for college students who are members of that church or whose preference is Methodist. Its aim is to foster the social, moral, and spiritual needs of students by trying to create a greater personal relationship with God and continue to strengthen those ties with the Church, made in youth, which assure full Christian maturity.

Meetings are held each Sunday evening in the Wesley Foundation annex of the Oxford-University Methodist Church, where meals are served and programs are presented for the entertainment and education of its members. They include discussion groups, studies, worship services, and recreation. At times when important guest speakers are to be present, the Wesley Foundation invites the religious groups for students of other denominations to join with them in Christian fellowship.

Pi Kappa Pi

To become a member of Pi Kappa Pi is the highest scholastic honor that may be attained at the University of Mississippi. It was founded in 1925, in order to recognize scholarship and to uphold high ideals in scholastic work.

The requirement for membership is very high. One must have an "A" average over seventy per cent of one's work for a minimum period of two consecutive years. It is very seldom that over one per cent of the students achieve membership in this fraternity, although membership is not limited to any particular field.

In keeping with their purpose of recognizing high scholastic achievement, Pi Kappa Pi awards a medal each year at graduation to the senior with the highest overall average.

The first national Greek letter pharmaceutical fraternity to be founded was Kappa Psi. The founding took place on 5 December 1879, at the College of Virginia. Later a chapter was established on the campus of the University of Mississippi and remained active until around 1930, when it went inactive. Some seventeen years later, in May, 1947, the Beta Rho chapter of Kappa Psi was re-activated. Since that time its prestige has grown steadily on the Ole Miss campus.

Members are chosen in recognition of their scholastic standing, general ability, character, and personality. They are expected to exert their utmost efforts to preserve and further the ideals of the pharmaceutical profession.

The Alpha Epsilon chapter was founded at the University of Mississippi in 1927. Two years later, in 1929, the fraternity became inactive and was not re-activated until 1951.

The men in the chapter symbolize the purpose of the fraternity—brotherhood and hard work. Through good fellowship and cooperation they attempt to foster in their members the high ideals of the pharmacy profession. Although books, pills, powders, and labs occupy the greater part of their time, the men also participate in social activities.

The Canterbury Club is an organization of the Episcopal Church for Episcopal students. It provides students with opportunities to develop their religious beliefs more fully and to continue their church work while on the campus of the University. The Club meets each Sunday evening as well as Thursday evening. On Sunday various programs consisting of speakers, panels, films, recreation, and group discussions are held. Thursday nights the members meet and eat together at what is known as the Supper Club. There, religious topics are discussed by the students on their own level. This gives each Episcopal student an opportunity to express and discuss his beliefs. Each year the Canterbury Club sponsors various social events such as shrimp suppers. It does a great deal of work among the needy around the University.

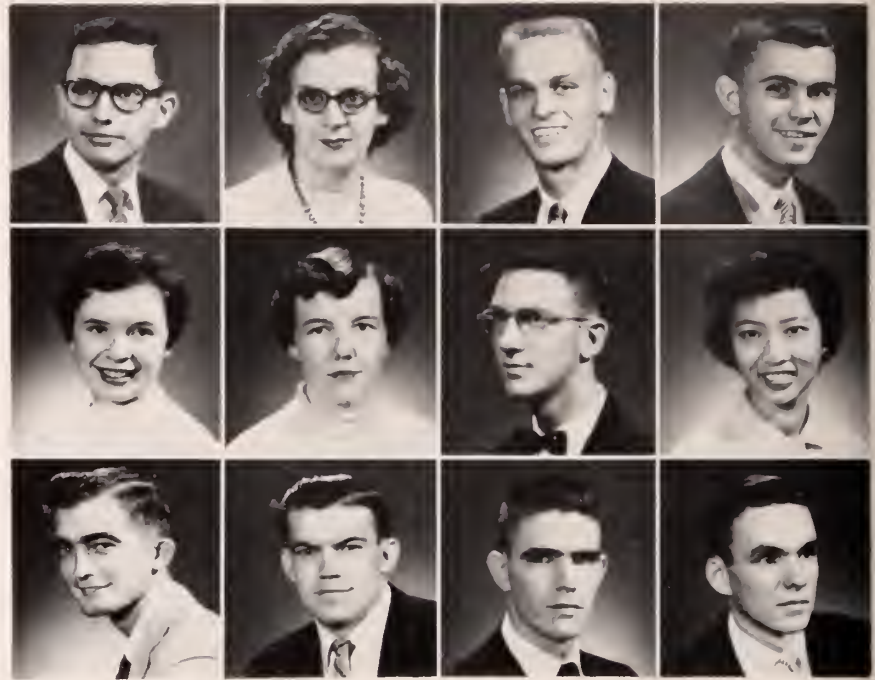

The Baptist Student Union serves as a connecting link between the campus and the church for Baptist students and for those of Baptist preference. It offers a chance for spiritual growth on the campus along with mental and cultural developments through church-related programs and activities. The BSU Councils which are elected annually have the responsibility of contacting and enlisting, in the various activities, all the Baptist students. The Councils plan activities and co-ordinate the Baptist program with that of other campus religious organizations.

Each year the Ole Miss BSU sends a delegation to the State BSU Convention. It sponsors short devotionals each week day at noon which are conducted by the students themselves. Prayer dates are considered an important part of BSU. Various mission projects are also undertaken.

Hillel, which is one of 200 foundations at universities and colleges in the United States and foreign countries, provides Jewish students of the University of Mississippi with personal counselling, plus services for all needs such as culture, religion and social. The foundation on this campus is sponsored by the Mississippi B'nai B'rith, a Jewish men's service organization.

In all phases of its work, Hillel seeks to relate the student to his historical and cultural group. It resensitizes him to the meaning and beauty of his tradition, and it acquaints him with current developments in Jewish life, while equipping him with skills to help maintain and develop Jewish life as a dynamic cultural and social process. The common interests of all Hillel members make it a very worthwhile, enjoyable, and progressive group.

The qualifications for membership consist of taking an active part in band activities, a willingness to cooperate, and displaying an interest in all band functions.

It is the goal of the members of Kappa Kappa Psi to promote fellowship, goodwill, understanding, and cooperation among band members. It is the leadership of Kappa Kappa Psi that keeps the other bandmen on their toes and makes a fine musical organization.

Alpha Delta Sigma is a national honorary advertising fraternity for male students. The George McLean Chapter was organized on the University of Mississippi campus in May of 1952. There was much celebration in September of 1952 when the Charter was presented by Professor Milton E. Gross, National Secretary of Alpha Delta Sigma.

The fraternity was organized to bring together men who are interested in advertising as a career. It promotes fellowship among them and enables them to discuss their common interest—advertising. In addition to meeting with fellow students, members of Alpha Delta Sigma are in contact with professional advertising people.

When one becomes a member of the fraternity, he is automatically affiliated with the Advertising Federation of America.

Eta Sigma Phi is the national honorary fraternity on the campus of the University of Mississippi for students of the classics. With over forty chapters throughout the United States, it is a growing fraternity in a field where recognition on a campus is often overlooked. To become a member, a student must show a high degree of proficiency in either Latin or Greek. He must make a minimum of a B in any advanced Latin or Greek course.

It is the purpose of Eta Sigma Phi to create and maintain an interest in the study of the classical languages. To be recognized for outstanding work in this field is a great honor at the University of Mississippi. Membership is a goal for students of classics, and thus encourages them to do well in their studies.

Chi Epsilon is a national honorary civil engineering fraternity. Its purpose is to form a closer union and bond of friendship and loyalty among those now preparing for and those now in the civil engineering profession.

Eligibility for membership in Chi Epsilon is determined by excellence shown in scholarship, character, practicality, and sociability. Juniors and seniors in the School of Engineering are the only persons eligible.

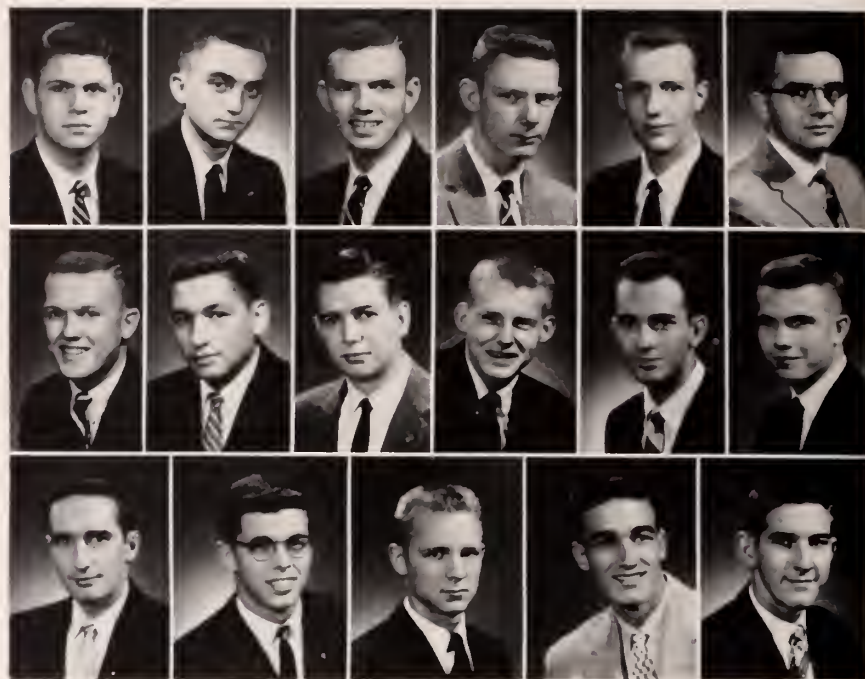

This year marks the eighth successive active year of the Ole Miss Chapter of Chi Epsilon since its reorganization. It was inactive for six years before it was reorganized in 1949. Since its reorganization, Chi Epsilon has done a great deal towards creating a spirit of unity among those in the civil engineering profession. It is a goal for underclassmen in civil engineering to work toward.

The Cardinal Club, a sophomore service organization at Ole Miss, was organized on the campus in 1927, and had as its primary purpose the entertaining of visiting athletic teams. Since then the Club has become famous as a freshman disciplinary committee. Each year the Cardinal Club sponsors the building of a giant bonfire the night before the Homecoming game. The main purpose of the Cardinal Club now is to instill in the freshman students enthusiastic spirit and love for Ole Miss. They make certain that the freshmen attend all pep rallies and like functions.

The membership of the club is composed of one representative from each fraternity and two from the student body at large. The president is elected from the preceding year's Cardinal Club and is a member of the junior class.

Student chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineers provide the opportunity for the beginnings of professional associations. Membership is open to all juniors and seniors in the Department of Civil Engineering, but all students in the department are welcome to attend some of the meetings. Membership in a chapter assures that contacts can be made with the technical and professional progress of civil engineering and with the leaders who are responsible for such progress. Even more important, membership offers the chance to take part in the constructive activities carried on by future leaders of the profession. The student chapter supplements regular class meetings and laboratory work, and is the only agency that can relate the professional development of students to the achievements of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Phi Delta Phi is the oldest professional fraternity in the United States. International in scope, this legal fraternity is one of the enduring institutions among honorary fraternities which exist today. Mayes Inn of Phi Delta Phi was formed at the University of Mississippi in 1927. The members are selected from those law students who have displayed the highest qualities of scholarship and character in their legal training. The purpose of the fraternity is to promote culture and professional ethics in the legal profession.

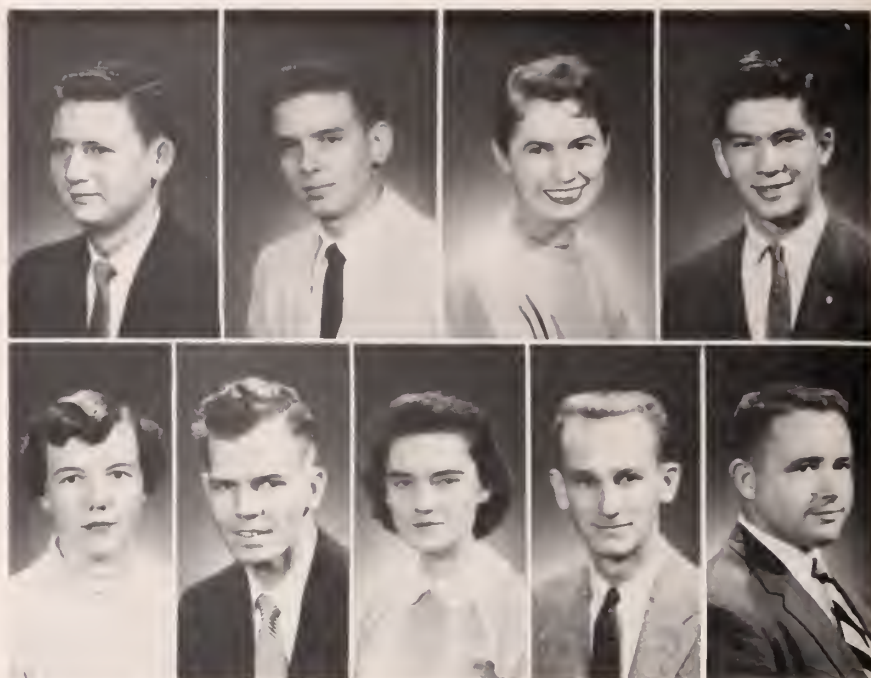

Participation in Phi Delta Phi's activities offers the earnest law student unmatched opportunities for an early awareness of the practical legal problems and techniques not emphasized in the curriculum, as well as helpful guidance to a more general understanding of the profession for which he is studying to be a member.

Alpha Epsilon Delta is a national honor society for pre-med students who have maintained a 4.5 average over two consecutive semesters. A student who has maintained a 5.0 average after one semester may be pledged. It was founded at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Alabama, in 1926. At present there are over ten thousand members in sixty-one active chapters in colleges and universities throughout the United States.

The objectives of the society are to encourage excellence in pre-medical work by furnishing a goal towards which the students may strive during the early semesters of his or her pre-medical career; to bind together the similarly interested students, and to bridge the gap between the spirit of the pre-medical school and that of the School of Medicine.

In October of 1947 the Business Education Club was organized on the campus of the University of Mississippi. This club is the unifying force for the many students and faculty on the campus who are interested in business education. Through this organization they can get to know each other better and have more opportunities to discuss a subject of mutual interest. The club also provides excellent opportunities for the student to become a personal friend of many of the faculty members since they meet because of a common interest. Because it was felt that the benefits are just as great to a "C" student as to an "A" student, membership is not based on grade averages, but is extended to all students or faculty who are interested in business education.

Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, was founded at LaFayette College, Easton, Pennsylvania, in 1925. This organization enjoys the distinction of being the largest service fraternity in the nation. The membership is composed of students who have had previous association with scouting, who have the desire to render service to their fellow men and community, and who have a sufficient scholastic standing.

The purposes of the fraternity are to develop friendship, to plan for extending leadership in worthwhile campus and community projects, to develop plans for rendering service to our fellow man, and to create participating and understanding citizenship for our nation.

Alpha Phi Omega is made up of students representing every side of campus life all combined in an effort to better their college and community with the one qualification being the willingness to work.

This year the campus radio station, WCBH, started the year in fine style. The equipment had been worked on during the summer months, and it was functioning as good as new by September. Reception was improved a great deal so that now WCBH reaches all the dorms and fraternity and sorority houses as well as the Oxford station or any Memphis station.

A wide variety of subjects was covered this year by WCBH. The football, basketball, and baseball games were brought to the students by an on-the-spot announcer. Programs of classical music were presented to provide a proper balance with the programs of popular and jazz music. In cooperation with the Ole Miss Hungarian Student Scholarship drive, WCBH put on a marathon which started on Friday morning and continued until midnight the following Sunday.

Pi Sigma is an organization for pre-med students. It was organized at Ole Miss in 1952 by Alpha Epsilon Delta, the national pre-med honor society on the campus. The members of Alpha Epsilon Delta felt that they gained so much from their association with each other in an organization based upon their interests that they wanted to extend the benefits to those students who had the same interests but who were not members of their organization. They realized that it was impossible for every pre-med student to make the high grades necessary to become a member of Alpha Epsilon Delta; thus, they made the only requirement for membership in Pi Sigma to be that a student must be enrolled as a pre-med student at the University of Mississippi.

Military

The University of Mississippi is one of the few colleges and universities in the United States which offers all of the ROTC programs to the male students. Here at Ole Miss a qualified young man may become a member of any of these three programs—the Army, Air Force or Navy (including Marines) and upon graduation, will receive a commission and go on active duty in his respective service.

These programs are formed as departments of the College of Liberal Arts and four year ROTC students receive an unrelated minor in military. In addition to the class work the units participate in a two hour drill period each Thursday. Summer camps, field trips, and joint reviews supplement instruction and the formal dances held by each unit add to the social life on the campus.

The department of Military Science and Tactics is a general military science unit of the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps and functions under the joint jurisdiction of the University and the Department of the Army. The purpose of the program is to select and train junior officers to serve with the reserve components of the Army of the United States.

Army ROTC is divided into two phases, the Basic Course and the Advance Course. All students enrolled in the advanced course are paid a monthly allowance. Attendance of summer camp follows completion of the first year of the advanced course. During the fourth year, each student is given the opportunity of declaring the branch of service in which he desires to be commissioned. We, of the Army ROTC, feel that our program offers the best variety of branch selections, since our graduates may be commissioned in any one of fourteen branches. Upon satisfactory completion of the fourth year of training, the student is commissioned as Second Lieutenant, United States Army Reserve, in that branch of the service designated by the Department of the Army on the basis of the student's preference, his academic training and standing, and the requirements of the Army.

There are various extra-curricular activities in which members of the Army ROTC may participate. An opportunity is afforded musicians to join the ROTC Band. There are various national military societies, such as "The Pershing Rifles" and "The Scabbard and Blade," whose active members are selected from ROTC students. Students interested in rifle marksmanship may join the Rifle Team, which participates in the Hearst and Third Army Rifle Matches as well as several shoulder to shoulder and postal matches. We are particularly proud of our Rifle Team, which continues to dominate campus marksmanship and to maintain a consistently high record in intercollegiate circles.

The high point of the social calendar is the annual Military Ball, which was held this year on January fifth and proved to be one of the major social events of the fall semester.

Naval ROTC

The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps was established at Ole Miss in June, 1946. McCain Hall is the NROTC base of operations on the campus and is named in honor of the late Admiral John S. McCain, USN, an Ole Miss alumnus and graduate of the United States Naval Academy.

The purpose of the NROTC is to train and qualify carefully screened and selected young men for commissions as Ensign in the United States Navy or Second Lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps. Ole Miss is one of the fifty-two outstanding colleges and universities in the nation selected to augment the United States Naval Academy in graduating officers for these two services. Toward this end the NROTC students pursue their selected major field of endeavor, as do their civilian contemporaries, and also study professional naval and marine subjects. In the field of campus activities the midshipmen have proved their high caliber by having a high percentage of positions of leadership in professional, social, religious and honorary organizations.

During his first two academic years at Ole Miss the midshipman studies such courses as Naval History, Seamanship, Ordnance and Gunnery. During his last two years his courses include Naval Engineering, Navigation, Operations, Leadership and Military Justice. If he elects to receive his commission in the Marine Corps he spends his junior and senior years studying Evolution of the Art of Warfare and Amphibious Warfare. Not all of the midshipman's time is spent in the lab and classroom. Approximately eight weeks of the summer between school years the Ole Miss Mids spend their time on summer training cruises on active duty. There is much truth in the old phrase, "Join the Navy and see the world." The sea going cruises not only provide practical shipboard training but visits to foreign countries are also made, thus giving the midshipman an opportunity to broaden his experience and outlook. Among those countries visited in the past few years are included Spain, France, England, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Germany, Cuba and Panama. There are also two training periods in this country. The Aviation/Amphibious Cruise at Little Creek, Virginia and Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas. For the Marine candidate there is the summer training cruise at Quantico, Virginia.

Upon graduation and commissioning the new officers go to assignments aboard ships, flight school, or bases in the four quarters of the globe where they represent Ole Miss and serve their country on land, sea and in the air.

U. S. Naval Officer Five Term Training Program

The Five Term College Training Program was approved on 30 October 1945 by the Secretary of the Navy to provide commissioned officers of the Regular Navy in the rank of Lieutenant Commander and below the opportunity to receive academic training equivalent to five-terms of a college-level education. The length of the time the officers are in the program is determined by their previous education. Each officer must pursue a normal undergraduate curriculum and maintain an academic standing satisfactory to the college in which he is enrolled to remain in the program. The twenty-four (24) officers presently attending the University of Mississippi are officers of the wartime Navy who will receive an education equal to that of contemporary officers who graduated from the Naval Academy. Upon completion of their studies here at Ole Miss, these officers will return to duty assignments in the U.S. Navy on ships and bases, both in this country and abroad.

Air Force ROTC

The Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps, originally established at Ole Miss in 1946 as a part of the Army ROTC, has evolved since 1947 into the present Department of Air Science. The Department, with an Air Force staff of nine members, functions under the supervision of the University and of Headquarters AFROTC, Air University Command.

The course of instruction, consisting of class work and leadership laboratories, offers training which is designed to instruct the Cadet in all aspects of air power and its importance to the security of the nation and to develop in him those attributes essential in the Air Force Officer.

During the first two years, the academic work consists of a series of related subjects that can best be described as a course in air-age citizenship. In the final two years, the advanced course, stress is placed upon Air Force procedure and applied air tactics.

All Cadets attend a four week summer camp between their Junior and Senior years. These camps are located at various regular Air Force bases. Cadets are afforded the opportunity to participate in orientation flights in late type military aircraft and to observe the application of principles learned in the classroom and leadership laboratory.

Classes

There are numerous methods of classifying students attending a university. The simplest and most natural method is a classification according to the number of years which a student has been pursuing a course of study. There are, however, additional classifications according to one's particular field and the school in which he is studying, for example Liberal Arts, Commerce, etc.

This section has had various uses in past annuals. Many have used it to identify blind dates or other associates. Some feel its purpose is only to satisfy one's personal ego, and still others employ it in the future to remember old classmates. But, whatever its purpose or use, it has always been an integral part of the school yearbook, so here is the Southern Belle; Miss University, the campus representative in the Miss Mississippi Contest; and the queens of various events such as Homecoming and Rebelee. All of these people are truly features on the Ole Miss campus.

Bob Travis, Curtis McKee, and Don Samuels converse with John Adler and Charles Tilly in front of the Memphis train station as they await the luggage. A little later the new students were treated to steaks before being brought to Ole Miss.

From Hungarian Rebel to Ole Miss Rebel

Bob introduces John and Charles to Lt. Markovits, a naval instructor at Ole Miss, who speaks Hungarian. He was a great aid in the boys' first few days on the campus.

On 19 February 1957, two Hungarian refugee students came to our campus to continue their education. These young men, 21 years of age, were two students who had been forced to flee Hungary along with thousands of others in order to escape from Communist tyranny. Both participated as students in the Hungarian revolt; and now both have come to this country and to Ole Miss to learn and to live in a free society. Charles Tilly and John Adler were chosen by a special committee of students and faculty to be the recipients of scholarships which amount to full four-year grants. Money for these grants came from donations from Ole Miss students. Within four weeks of the announcement of these students, enough money was raised to provide them with a complete wardrobe and four full years of college education. The University has cooperated by providing room, tuition, free health service and has aided in many other ways.

John and Charles arrived on the campus while Stunt Night was in progress. The show was interrupted to give Bob Travis, President of the ASB, the opportunity of introducing them to the Ole Miss students. The five minute ovation which these boys received was indicative of the hit which they have made on our campus.

We are privileged and honored to have Charles and John on our campus and with us at Ole Miss as our friends and fellow students.

Charles and John wave "hello" to the Ole Miss students who were at the train station to greet them.

Charles and John are introduced to the students in Fulton Chapel.

Producer of more than 70 Petroleum and Chemical products for Transportation, Industry and Agriculture, Lion Oil Company is proud of its leading role in the development of the South's industrial potential.

Lion sends to market each year the equivalent of more than 65,000 railway carloads of products from its three manufacturing plants in Arkansas and Louisiana. It pays approximately $17,500,000 yearly to 3,000 employees in wages and benefits, and it pays another $17,000,000 in taxes. Altogether, Lion puts nearly $100,000,000 into circulation annually throughout its territory.

Industrial development is going ahead in the South on a bigger scale than ever before. Lion Oil Company continues to lead the way with the most advanced methods of manufacturing, finding and producing vital raw materials, and in scientific research. The result: more jobs, better products for consumers, conservation of resources and more efficient use of those resources. No wonder that to Southerners, the Sign of the Lion has truly become the Sign of a Good Neighbor!
